Mahfuz, Asma and Irteza — thank you for the opportunity to put this together. Everything in it comes from the records and from one MLS® pull run this week: every condominium townhouse sold within the search radius since June, every one for sale now, and the city and district figures behind them. We have not walked through yet, so the number here is an estimate from the records and from the photographs of the home as it was listed in 2019 — which, we understand, is how it still stands; the walkthrough turns it into a pricing strategy. One thing shapes the document: in this part of Scarborough, condominium townhouses are being bought on two numbers together, the price and the monthly fee, and the home that sells is the one that reads as the best value on both. Our reading of the evidence is stated once, at the end, and labelled as ours.

SECTION 01 · THE PROPERTY

A three-bedroom multi-level townhouse in the Cliffcrest enclave at Kingston and McCowan, with hardwood, stone and a garden walk-out — kept as it was finished.

Townhouse 43 is a 1,292 sq ft multi-level unit in York Condominium Corporation 392, a 1977 complex of brick townhouses set back from Kingston Road east of McCowan. Three bedrooms, a four-piece and two two-piece baths, a built-in garage with a second space on the drive, ensuite laundry, and a finished lower level that walks out to a fenced west-facing garden. The home was renovated before the current owners bought it in 2019 — Canadian maple hardwood and Carrara stone floors, an updated kitchen with under-cabinet lighting, two Fujitsu ductless heat pumps — and has been kept in that condition since. The monthly fee is $600 and includes water, building insurance, common elements and parking.

What stands out

- Hardwood and stone throughout — the two comparable sales had laminate and tile
- 1,292 sq ft: the same size as the Scarborough Village sale and 172 sq ft less than the renovated end unit in this complex
- Garage plus drive, garden walk-out, west exposure — the three things the stacked and three-storey towns in the radius do not have
- $600 fee against $470–$635 across the pocket: in the range, and the figure every buyer will compare

SECTION 02 · THE MARKET TODAY

Toronto condominium townhouses are selling a third less often than a year ago, at prices 6% lower — and this pocket's few sales took three months each.

City of Toronto: 97 at $749,653 / $685,000 against 139 at $786,671 / $730,000. Toronto E08 reported two sales in September 2026 and six a year ago — too few to read.

CONDOMINIUM TOWNHOUSE SALES IN SOUTH SCARBOROUGH SINCE JUNE, SORTED BY MONTHLY FEE — SALE PRICE, $ THOUSANDS

SYNERGY's extract from MLS®, June 1 – September 30, 2026. Nine condominium townhouse sales between 1,100 and 1,500 sq ft in the four communities; stacked units and the two sales over $1.2M excluded. The three complexes with fees above $730 a month sold at $440,000–$460,000; the five with fees under $650 sold at $550,000–$663,000.

Three things to hold at once. Condominium townhouses across Toronto are selling far less often than a year ago — a third fewer in September — and at a median 6% lower, with August the weakest month of the year. Buyers are still paying 98% of the asking price when the asking price is right, which means the price is what moves, not the discount. And in this pocket the monthly fee is read as hard as the price: the chart above puts nine sales in a line, and the fee predicts the sale price almost as well as the size does.

Board statistics stop at the district line and E08 reported two condominium townhouse sales last month, so we pull our own MLS® data on the 1st of each month — every sale in the five regions — before the board publishes. During your listing that means we see a shift in this pocket and respond to it while other agents are waiting for the report.

SECTION 03 · COMPARABLE SALES

Two condominium townhouses have sold within the search radius since June: one in your complex, renovated; one a kilometre east, the same size and form.

The MLS® search covered condominium townhouses within the radius on the map in Section 04, sold since June 1. It returned two — which is the first finding: buyers for this form in this pocket are few, and both sales took three months and several price cuts to find one. All three — yours and the two sales — have a built-in garage and a second space on the drive. Both sales are shown in full; the table is sortable and the link opens the listings.

SECTION 04 · WHAT THE POCKET DID

The search area, the two sales, and what else is on offer.

The radius runs from the Eglinton GO station to the Bluffs and from Brimley to Markham Road. Inside it, two condominium townhouses have sold since June and four are for sale — three of them in one complex at 21 Rockwood Drive, 3-storey units of 1,067 sq ft at a $470 fee, asking $599,900 to $679,000, and the fourth in your own complex. Across the wider south-Scarborough market the pattern from Section 02 holds: the complexes with fees under $650 traded at $550,000–$663,000 this summer, and the ones above $730 at $440,000–$460,000.

SECTION 05 · WHAT EACH SALE TELLS US

One sale sets the ceiling for the complex and one the floor for the form — and the gap between them is almost entirely renovation.

3100 Kingston Rd #14 · your complex

$645,000

SOLD AUGUST 6 · 96% OF FINAL LIST · 110 DAYS ACROSS FOUR LISTINGS

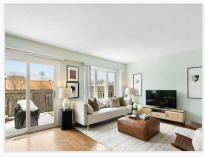

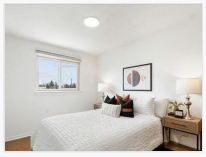

The ceiling. A 1,464 sq ft three-storey end unit, four bedrooms and four baths, with "over $200,000" of work — kitchen, all baths in 2025, deck, windows and roof — a wood-burning fireplace and a $541 fee. It opened at $831,000 in April, was relisted twice, and sold in August at $645,000. Two lessons: the most renovated townhouse in the complex could not clear $650,000 this year, and asking $831,000 for it cost the seller four months. Against TH 43 it has 172 more square feet, an extra bedroom and bath, and a renovation ten years newer.

3430 Kingston Rd #4 · Scarborough Village

$550,000

SOLD JUNE 18 · 92% OF FINAL LIST · 87 DAYS

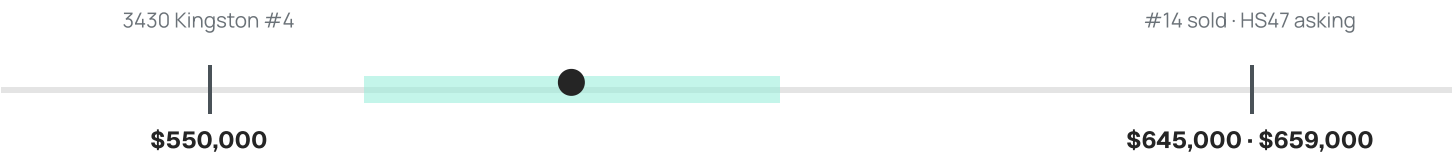

The floor for the form. The same multi-level plan at the same size — 1,283 sq ft, three bedrooms, garage and drive — in a 1970s complex a kilometre east, with a $635 fee. Hardwood on the upper levels, a solid-wood kitchen, a finished basement; staged and vacant. It asked $699,000, cut three times, and sold at $550,000. TH 43 is the same house in a better-regarded complex, with the lower fee, the stone and maple floors and the renovated kitchen the Scarborough Village unit did not have — and a third bath.

THE PATTERN

Both sales ran the same course: an ambitious opening price, three months, a sale at 85–92% of the original ask. 3430 Kingston #4 is the same home as yours in a lesser complex — $550,000. 3100 Kingston #14 is a bigger, fully renovated unit in your complex — $645,000. TH 43 sits between them: the complex and the finishes lift it off the floor, and the size and the age of the renovation keep it under the ceiling. The actives in Section 07 say where in between.

SECTION 06 · WHERE THE EVIDENCE LANDS

Estimated market value.

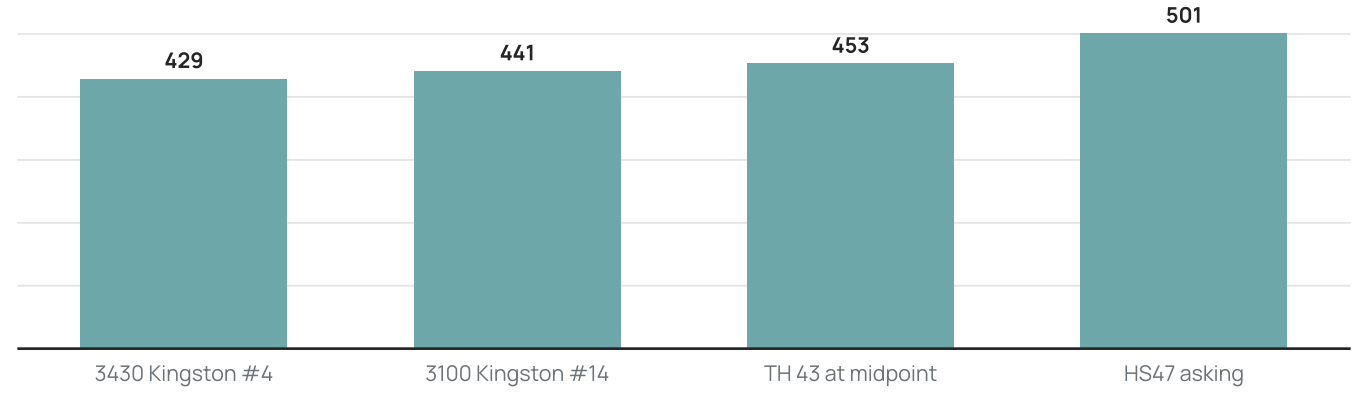

The shaded band is the estimated value range; the dot is the midpoint. The markers are the two comparable sales and the asking price of the unit in your complex that has not sold in ten months. Built from the records before a walkthrough — see the note below.

Consideration	Effect on value
Floor for the form: 3430 Kingston #4 — same size and plan, Scarborough Village, $635 fee; sold June 18	$550,000
Ceiling for the complex: 3100 Kingston #14 — 1,464 sq ft, 4 bed / 4 bath, renovated 2023–25; sold August 6	$645,000
Against #4: Cliffcrest and YCC 392 over Scarborough Village and YCC 371	+$20,000 to +$30,000
Against #4: maple and Carrara floors and a renovated kitchen over hardwood-and-laminate and a solid-wood original; a third bath	+$15,000 to +$20,000
Against #4: a $35-a-month lower fee; June to November market	+$5,000 · −$10,000
Against #14: 172 sq ft, one bedroom and one bath fewer	−$35,000 to −$40,000
Against #14: a pre-2019 renovation against a 2025 one; an end unit; a fireplace; a $59-a-month lower fee	−$55,000 to −$65,000
The unit in your complex for sale: HS47, 1,314 sq ft, 3 bed / 2 bath, move-in ready — unsold at $705,000 since June and at $659,000 since October 6	ceiling below $659,000
Index check: purchased January 2019 at $520,000; Toronto condominium townhouse prices since then	≈ $575,000 – $580,000

Adjustments are directional. The range is the reconciliation of the two sales for form and complex, the unsold unit in the complex as a ceiling, and the 2019 purchase price carried forward as a check. Figures are estimates for discussion, not an appraisal.

PRICE PER SQ FT — THE TWO SALES, TH 43 AT $585,000, AND THE UNSOLD UNIT IN THE COMPLEX AT ITS ASKING PRICE

3430 Kingston #4 and 3100 Kingston #14 at their sale prices; HS47 at $659,000 asking, unsold. The rate runs inversely with size — the 1,464 sq ft unit carries the lower rate of the two sales — and HS47's $501 is the number buyers have declined for ten months.

$565,000 – $605,000

estimated market value · midpoint $585,000

$599,000

recommended list price — the alternative is set out in Section 08

The two sales bracket the home. Built up from the Scarborough Village twin, the complex, the floors, the kitchen, the third bath and the lower fee carry TH 43 to about $585,000. Built down from the renovated end unit in your own complex, the size, the extra rooms and the age of the renovation take it to the mid-$540,000s — but that sale, after four months and four listings, was a weak one. The unit still for sale in the complex, HS47, says the ceiling plainly: 22 square feet bigger than yours and move-in ready, it has found no buyer at $705,000 or, so far, at $659,000. The midpoint of $585,000 reconciles the three, and the 2019 purchase price carried forward at the city's condominium-townhouse index lands within a few thousand dollars of it. At $453 per square foot it sits above the Scarborough Village sale's $429 — the better complex and finishes — and above #14's $441, which a smaller unit should carry.

This estimate is built from the records and from the 2019 photographs. A walkthrough — the kitchen and baths as they stand today, the floors, the lower level and the walk-out, the heat pumps, and anything the seven years since have left — is what turns it into a pricing strategy. Until then, treat it as a well-supported starting point rather than a number to list at.

SECTION 07 · WHO YOU WOULD BE COMPETING WITH

Four condominium townhouses are for sale in the radius. None has sold in between 40 and 293 days, and the one in your complex has been asking more than $659,000 since January.

A buyer looking at TH 43 will have these four open in other tabs. Three are 1,067 sq ft three-storey units at 21 Rockwood Drive with a $470 fee, asking $599,900 to $679,000 — none has moved, including the tenanted one priced at $599,900 since October 8. The fourth is HS47 in your own complex: 1,314 sq ft, three bedrooms, two baths, a wood fireplace and a finished walk-out, listed in January at $741,000 after a 2025 attempt at $778,000, reduced to $705,000 in June and to $659,000 in October. Ten months without a buyer in the same complex is the single most useful fact in this document: it marks where the market stops.

The unit yours will be shown against, in the same enclave. Larger by 22 square feet, with a fireplace and a cathedral-ceiling living room, and move-in ready. It asked $778,000 in April 2025, $741,000 in August and again in January, $705,000 from June, and $659,000 since October 6 — and has not sold. Priced under it, TH 43 becomes the value in the complex; priced near it, it joins it.

21 Rockwood Drive #4 $599,900

40 DAYS · 1,067 SQ FT (MPAC) · 3 BED, 2 BATH · 3-STOREY · FEE $470 · TENANTED, SOLD AS-IS · FROM $639,900

The listing that sets the entry price for the pocket. Smaller than TH 43 by 225 square feet, tenanted with 24 hours' notice to show, offered as-is, and still waiting after a cut to $599,900. At $599,000 a buyer gets your home — hardwood and stone, three baths, a garden, vacant possession — for $900 less than this one.

21 Rockwood Drive #8 $669,999

52 DAYS ACROSS TWO LISTINGS · 1,067 SQ FT · 3 BED, 2 BATH · UPDATED · FEE $470 · FROM $710,000 · SOLD JANUARY 2021 AT $586,888

Updated and well presented, and asking $84,000 more than it fetched in January 2021. It was listed at $710,000 in August, terminated, and relisted at $669,999 in October. Its history is the pocket's history: the price a buyer paid in 2021 is close to what the market supports now.

21 Rockwood Drive #22

$679,000

86 DAYS · 1,067 SQ FT · 3 BED, 2 BATH · FURNISHED · FEE $470 · SELF-MANAGED CORPORATION

The highest ask in the pocket for the smallest unit, three months without a buyer. It will be in every buyer's comparison set, and it makes TH 43 at $599,000 look like the obvious choice.

SECTION 08 · TWO WAYS TO PRICE IT

Two ways to price it — and why the number is not final until we have walked through.

Both columns assume a launch within a week of the walkthrough, with new photography, floor plans and the ad campaign ready on day one. The range in Section 06 is an educated estimate from the records; the strategy is finalized once we have seen the home.

The pocket's own history decides the approach. Both sales this year opened well above where they closed and gave back 8–15% of the original ask over three months; all four actives are doing the same thing now. Condominium buyers here compare the fee and the price side by side, and the listing that reads as the best value on both is the one that gets the showing.

Two ways to price it

	List at $599,000 — price to the evidence	List at $569,900 — invite competition, offers reviewed on day 7
List price	$599,000, reviewed on day 21 and moving to $584,900 if there is no offer	$569,900, offers reviewed on the seventh day
Where it sits	$60,000 under HS47 in your complex and $900 under the tenanted as-is unit at Rockwood — the value listing in the pocket on day one	Under every active in the radius by $30,000 or more
What the sales showed	The pocket's two sales closed at 92–96% of their final list; at that ratio $599,000 lands $575,000–$590,000	Nothing in this pocket has drawn competing offers this year; the two sales and four actives all took their time
Likely outcome	Showings from the first weekend; an offer at $575,000–$590,000 inside 30–45 days	A fast sale at $570,000–$585,000 if two buyers appear — or one offer at the list price and no leverage
What favours this	Control of the price; room to negotiate; the comparison with HS47 and Rockwood works in your favour every day	Speed and certainty if the walkthrough shows a home that will photograph exceptionally well

Figures are estimates for discussion. The pricing strategy is finalized at the walkthrough, not before.

CHOOSE YOUR LEVEL OF SERVICE

Two packages, the same duty of care in both — and the one we recommend for a home that has to win a comparison.

Both packages include the full professional obligations we owe you: presenting all offers, acting in your interest, and complete disclosure. What differs is how much of the preparation and marketing we take on.

For TH 43 we recommend Signature. Every buyer who sees your listing will see HS47 and the three Rockwood units beside it, and the one that shows best wins the showing. Professional photography and video, floor plans, light staging, touch-ups and the paid campaign are what put a 2019 renovation in front of buyers as the best value in the pocket.

WHAT WE DO FOR YOUR PROPERTY

The campaign makes one argument, everywhere: the best value in the pocket on both numbers.

TH 43 has what the units it competes with do not — hardwood and stone, a third bath, a garden walk-out, a garage and a drive — at a lower price than the one in its own complex. The listing says that in the first line, the photographs prove it, and the ads put it in front of the first-time buyers and young families who are shopping condominium townhouses between $550,000 and $700,000 in south Scarborough right now.

PRODUCTION

Professional photography — new photographs — the 2019 set is seven years old — staged and lit to show the floors and the west light

Videography and aerial drone — the enclave and its setting back from Kingston Road; a walkthrough that sells the multi-level layout

Floor plans — every level measured and drafted — the plan is the thing a multi-level buyer cannot picture from photographs

The comparison sheet — TH 43 beside HS47 and the Rockwood units — size, baths, fee, price — in every buyer's hand

EXPOSURE

MLS® and full syndication — REALTOR.ca and every major portal, day one

Paid digital advertising, 24/7 — across our six pages for the life of the listing, aimed at first-time buyers and families in Scarborough and the east end

Collaborator posts — the tour reel on all six team pages at once, then to the large pages we work with

Agent network — a personal call to every agent who has sold a condominium townhouse in E08 this year

Database — featured to 30,000 contacts, including the first-time buyers moving up from condominium apartments

ON THE GROUND

Painting and touch-ups — where the walkthrough says they will return more than they cost

Staging — light staging of the main level and primary bedroom around your furniture

QUESTIONS SELLERS ASK

The things most people want to ask, answered before you have to.

Why not list higher and come down if we have to?

Because this pocket has already run that experiment four times this year. #14 in your complex opened at $831,000 and sold at $645,000 after four months; 3430 Kingston opened at $699,000 and sold at $550,000; HS47 has been coming down from $778,000 since April 2025 and is still for sale. Buyers here compare the fee and the price side by side and wait. The price the evidence supports on day one is the shortest route to the best number.

We paid $520,000 in 2019. Is that where the market has gone?

Roughly, yes. Toronto condominium townhouse prices are up about 11% since early 2019 after falling back from their 2022 peak, which carries $520,000 to about $577,000 — within a few thousand dollars of the midpoint built from the sales. The home has held its value through a market that gave back a great deal; it has not run ahead of it.

Does the $600 fee hurt us?

It is inside the pocket's range — $470 at Rockwood, $541 and $554 for the other two units in your complex, $635 at 3430 Kingston — and it includes water, insurance and parking. It is not a problem; it is a number every buyer will check, so the listing states it plainly and sets it beside what it covers. Worth confirming from the latest statement before we publish it.

Should we renovate the kitchen or baths before selling?

No. The most renovated unit in the complex — $200,000 of work — sold for $645,000 in August. A renovation would not return its cost, and it would cost you the weeks. Paint, touch-ups and staging where the walkthrough says they return more than they cost is the line.

What is a status certificate and when does it get ordered?

A package from the corporation — its financials, reserve fund, insurance, rules and any legal matters — that a buyer's lawyer reviews before an offer firms up. We order it when a conditional offer is accepted, which keeps the cost off your side until there is a buyer, and our in-house review reads it before the buyer's lawyer does. There are no known issues with YCC 392.

Is there tax on the sale?

A home you have lived in as your principal residence is generally exempt from tax on the gain. The exception worth a question is any period it was rented out. Terrence is a CPA and will make sure the right question is asked before the listing goes live.

How long will it take?

The pocket's two sales took 87 and 110 days — but both started well above the market and spent most of that time coming down to it. Priced at the evidence, with new photography and the comparison with HS47 and Rockwood working for you, 30 to 45 days to an offer is the reasonable expectation, with a 30–60 day close after that.

Who will we actually be dealing with?

Heaven and Terrence, on every call, showing and offer. The team is behind the file — a Broker for the contract, a law-trained partner for the status certificate and the agreement — but the two people accountable to you are the two whose names are on this document.

What the next six weeks would look like.

Week 1	Walkthrough. Pricing strategy finalized against this analysis — the number here is from the records and the 2019 photographs, and the home as it stands decides where in the range it lands. Listing agreement signed.
Week 1 – 2	Marketing strategy finalized from the walkthrough — what the home needs, if anything, is decided then. Photography, video, drone and floor plans booked; the fee and inclusions confirmed from the latest statement.
Days 2 – 5	Production: photography, video walkthrough, aerial, floor plans, the comparison sheet. Ad campaign designed. Collaborator post and agent calls prepared.
Day 6	Live on MLS® and REALTOR.ca. Campaign on. The database and the agent network told the same morning. Showings on your schedule from the first weekend.
Days 7 – 21	Showings with feedback to you within a day of each. Offer date on day 7 if the competition strategy is chosen; otherwise a first review on day 7 and a day-21 decision point on the step.
Every month	Our own MLS® pull on the 1st, before the board publishes — so a shift in the pocket reaches you before it reaches the market.

NEXT STEPS

Read it over, then let's walk through together.

The next step is a walkthrough: an hour in the home, every level, so the estimate here becomes a pricing strategy we all stand behind. Then a conversation about whether a sale now serves you; holding, or waiting for a stronger market, are legitimate answers too, and we will say so if the numbers point that way.
