Brenda, John — thank you for having me through. I live a minute from your door, so I will be direct with you. This house needs everything: the bathrooms, the windows, the carpet, the kitchen cabinets, the garage, the electrical panel, the furnace, and a laundry room that is still sitting unfinished in a bedroom. That is not a reason to spend money before selling it. It is the reason not to. Everything that follows is the evidence, from one MLS® pull run on October 19.

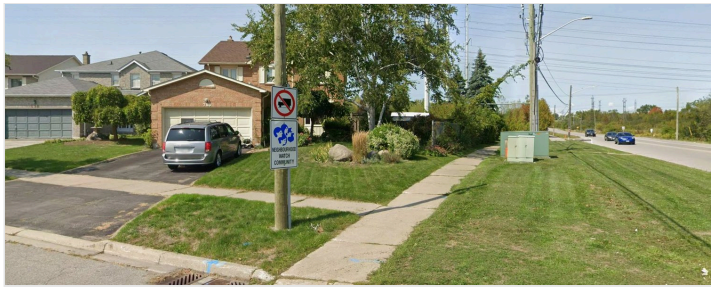

SECTION 01 · THE PROPERTY

2,473 square feet, a 12,195 square foot lot, and a house that needs everything.

Built in 1984. The roof was replaced about three years ago and that is the one major item behind you. Everything else is original, deferred or partly done — and we would rather put that in writing than let a buyer's inspector discover it.

A corner lot facing the road, with the hydro corridor behind. Both are priced into the analysis that follows.

What is done, and what is not

- Done: roof approximately three years old — the single largest item a buyer discounts for
- Partly done: air conditioning about five years, deck 2019, foyer floors, water heater 2011 and owned, some windows redone
- Not done — the kitchen. Newer stove, fridge and countertop, but the cabinets are painted and peeling. It reads newer only against a house where nothing else has been touched
- Not done: all three bathrooms original · windows 2000 with moisture, mould and rusted frames · carpet 1999 · garage · 100 amp original service · furnace and humidifier 2007 · no living-room lighting
- Unfinished: the basement, and a laundry room sitting incomplete inside one of the bedrooms

SECTION 02 · WHAT THIS HOUSE HAS DONE ON THE MARKET BEFORE

Source: PropTx MLS® listing history and Teranet transfer records for PIN 263710112. Property history may be incomplete.

This is your own house's record and it is the most useful thing in this document.

In 1991 it was listed at $299,900, failed to sell, came back $40,000 lower and sold for $250,000 — below even the reduced asking price. In 1994 it was listed again at $249,800 and expired without a sale.

Twice this house was offered at a price the market would not meet, and twice it sat. The strategy recommended in Section 10 is built to make sure that does not happen a third time.

SECTION 03 · THE MARKET RIGHT NOW

Pickering is steady. Correctly priced homes are selling in under two weeks.

11 days

MEDIAN DAYS TO SELL, BY THE MONTH THE HOME WAS LISTED — PICKERING DETACHED, 2026

Homes listed this September and October have been selling in eleven days. The window that is open now is a good one.

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026: Pickering detached sales excluding Rural Pickering, grouped by the month each home was listed. October is a partial month and will fill in.

I want to be careful here, because it would be easy to tell you the market is falling and that you must act today. It is not, and you do not.

Across the Greater Toronto Area our extract holds 45,603 sales to September 30. Pickering detached in your size band ran $470 a square foot in the first quarter, $475 in the second and $469 in the third — flat across the year. In the first nineteen days of October, Pickering detached in the $700,000 to $1.3M range sold at a median of 100% of asking in 10.5 days, the firmest month of the year on both measures.

The argument for moving now is not that the market is collapsing. It is that this window is working, and that the alternative — spending months on renovations first — spends it.

One thing worth knowing that most agents will not mention. The Bank of Canada has held its policy rate at 2.25%. But a buyer's budget is set by the fixed rate, and fixed rates are priced off the bond market, not off the Bank. Five-year Government of Canada yields climbed through early October and the lenders followed — BMO raised its five-year fixed 20 basis points to 5.14% on October 7.

SECTION 04 · THE COMPARABLE SALES

Ten sales. Four within one and a half per cent of your square footage — and most of them have a finished basement.

Every sale here is a Pickering detached home between roughly 2,100 and 2,700 square feet above grade, sold this year. Four landed within 1.5% of your 2,473 square feet, so the differences in price are condition, basement and setting rather than size.

The basement column is the one to read alongside the price.

1911 Rosebank Rd Amberlea	$850,000	$799,900	106.3%	7	2,138	$398	Unfinished	As-is, offer date

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026, from PropTx MLS® data: Pickering detached sales 2,100–2,700 sq ft above grade. Condition is read from each listing's own description. 560 Steeple Hill reports a 2,000–2,500 sq ft band rather than an exact figure.

SECTION 05 · CONDITION, BASEMENT AND WHAT THEY ARE WORTH

The same size house ranged from $361 to $484 a square foot this year. That spread is condition and basement.

Price per square foot is the fairest way to compare houses of similar size, and across these ten sales it ranged by a third. None of that is size. The three homes that needed work sold at $361, $384 and $398. The move-in-ready homes sold at $404 to $484.

Two honest notes. Across 171 Pickering detached sales in this size band, finished and unfinished basements show almost no difference on average — $471 against $474 a square foot. So an unfinished basement is not automatically a discount. What matters here is the specific comparison: three of the four sales closest to your size have a finished basement with a second kitchen or a separate suite. Yours is unfinished and the side entrance does not yet reach it. Against those four, that is a real gap.

The second note is the lot. At 12,195 square feet you are in the top tenth of anything selling at this size in Pickering. But across 168 sales, lot size and price per square foot correlate at only 0.15 — this market pays for the house far more than the land. The lot helps you with one particular buyer rather than with the market generally.

One more thing, because it decides whether these sales need adjusting for time. Price per square foot in this segment ran $470 in the first quarter, $475 in the second and $469 in the third — flat. The comparable sales do not need discounting to today. Note that the GTA average price rose 3.9% over the same period while price per square foot was flat: that difference is a change in what sold, not a change in what houses are worth, and it is the kind of number that sends a seller in the wrong direction.

The three on the left needed work. The four on the right were move-in ready. 700 Amaretto is assessed at $330 — below all of them, for the reasons in Section 07.

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026. Basement status read from each listing's own description; condition likewise.

SECTION 06 · THE SALES THAT DECIDE THIS

The same house as yours sold in March. That is where the valuation starts.

552 and 560 Steeple Hill · Woodlands

$900,000 and $860,000

2,490 SQ FT · 111 DAYS · 75.1% OF ASKING · VS · 6 DAYS · 101.3% OF ASKING

The same street, the same year, both needing work, and both with finished basements and second kitchens — which is more than you have. 552 asked $1,199,000, the price a finished house commands, and spent 111 days finding out it was not one, selling at $900,000. 560 asked $849,000, said plainly it was sold as is and required work, and was gone in six days above its asking price. This is the clearest evidence in the document, and it points at the strategy in Section 10.

1911 Rosebank Road · Amberlea

$850,000

2,138 SQ FT · 7 DAYS · 106.3% OF ASKING · $398 PER SQ FT · UNFINISHED BASEMENT

The only sale in the set that is both needs-work and unfinished-basement, which makes it the closest thing to your house that sold this year. Offered as is, no warranties, a pre-list inspection available to every buyer, contents left behind and offered separately, with a published offer date. Listed $799,900, sold $850,000 in a week. It is also 335 square feet smaller than yours, with no corner-road frontage and no hydro corridor — so it sets the rate your house should sit below, not at.

499 Lightfoot Place · Woodlands

$976,000

2,415 SQ FT · 13 DAYS · $404 PER SQ FT · MOVE-IN READY · FINISHED WALK-OUT, SEPARATE ENTRANCE, TWO KITCHENS

Within 2% of your square footage, which is why it looked like the right benchmark at first. It is not, and the difference matters. It was move-in ready, with a finished walk-out basement, its own separate entrance and two kitchens, backing onto Ernie Stroud Park at the end of a cul-de-sac. Your basement is unfinished with no entrance to it, there is no walk-out and no second kitchen, and the lot faces a road with a hydro corridor behind. $976,000 is what a finished house of this size fetches. It is the ceiling, not the comparison.

658 Cognac Crescent · Amberlea — the same house as yours

$1,025,000

2,473 SQ FT · $414 PER SQ FT · SOLD MARCH 27, 2026 · SAME BUILDER LAYOUT

This is the single most useful sale in the document. The same builder layout as 700 Amaretto, in your community, the same 2,473 square feet above grade — two copies of the same house, seven months apart. Three things separate them. Their basement is partly finished with a two-piece bath and a rough-in for a shower; yours is completely unfinished with no rough-in, no bathroom and no entrance into it. Their home was in ordinary, liveable condition; yours is mostly original throughout. And they sit on an interior street on a 5,920 square foot lot, while you face the road on a corner, with a hydro corridor behind, on 12,195 square feet. $1,025,000 is the ceiling for this house — what it would fetch finished and on a quiet street. Section 07 works down from it, line by line.

692 Amaretto Avenue · four doors from you

$1,020,000

2,655 SQ FT · 6 DAYS · 107.4% OF ASKING · $384 PER SQ FT · UNFINISHED BASEMENT

You will have this number in mind, so let us meet it directly. It is 182 square feet larger, it sold in January, and it got to $1,020,000 by being listed at $949,900 and letting buyers compete — the same play recommended here. It sold in six days at 107% of asking, which tells you it showed well. At $384 a square foot it is still the lowest rate of any Amberlea sale in this size band, and that is your street's setting showing up in the numbers.

1067 Maury Crescent · Liverpool

$960,000

2,242 SQ FT · 33 DAYS · $428 PER SQ FT · UPDATED, UNFINISHED BASEMENT, BACKS A HYDRO FIELD

The one sale that backs onto a hydro field, so it is the fairest read on what the corridor costs — and it is also what your house would look like fully renovated. Updated kitchen, new broadloom, genuine pride of ownership, and it still sold at $428 a square foot while similar updated homes without a corridor reached $456 to $484, taking 33 days, the longest of any updated home here. That is the ceiling Section 10 and the renovation question measure the renovation against.

SECTION 07 · WHERE THE EVIDENCE LANDS

Estimated market value.

The shaded band is the estimated value range; the dot is the midpoint.

Consideration	Effect on value
658 Cognac Cres — the same builder layout, the same community, the same 2,473 sq ft above grade, sold March 27	$1,025,000
Market conditions since: $470, $475 and $469 per sq ft across the three quarters. Flat — no time adjustment applied	none
Your lot is 12,195 sq ft against their 5,920 — more than double, on a corner. But lot size and price correlate at only 0.15 in this segment	+$15,000 to +$25,000
Their basement is partly finished with a 2-piece bath and a shower rough-in. Yours is completely unfinished — no rough-in, no bathroom, and the side entrance does not reach it	−$35,000 to −$45,000
Condition: yours is mostly original — paint, wallpaper, windows from 2000 with moisture, mould and rusted frames, carpet from 1999, three original bathrooms, kitchen cabinets painted and peeling, garage to replace, 100 amp service, 2007 furnace, and a laundry room left unfinished inside a bedroom. This is the work to reach their standard, not to renovate outright	−$110,000 to −$160,000
Setting: your lot faces the road on a corner and abuts a hydro corridor; 658 Cognac sits on an interior street. 692 Amaretto on your own street ran $384 per sq ft against their $414	−$50,000 to −$80,000
Indicated by the matched pair	$755,000 – $855,000
Cross-check: 552 Steeple Hill, within 0.7% of your size, needed work too — and still had a finished two-bedroom suite	$900,000
Cross-check: 1911 Rosebank, as-is with an unfinished basement, but 335 sq ft smaller with no corridor and no road frontage	$850,000
Converging the matched pair with the condition ladder, at $330 per square foot	$815,000

Adjustments are directional except where a figure is shown. All sale figures from SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026.

$790,000 – $845,000

estimated market value · midpoint $815,000

$799,000

recommended list price — with a published offer date. The reasoning is in Section 10.

What this is built on. The strongest piece of evidence in this document is 658 Cognac Crescent — the same builder layout as your home, in your community, the same 2,473 square feet, sold seven months ago. Comparing two copies of the same house and adjusting for the differences is the most reliable method there is, and it is why the reasoning above is set out line by line rather than summarised. The condition notes came from you and from the walkthrough on October 19, and a home inspection could move this either way — which is why we pay for one before the house goes up.

This is a lower number than any seller wants to hear, and I would rather give it to you now than have you discover it in week six. It is lower because 658 Cognac had a basement you could use and a house you could move into, and because your lot faces a road with a corridor behind it. What you have that they did not is more than double the land. The strategy in Section 10 is built to get you above this number, not to settle at it.

SECTION 08 · WHO YOU WOULD BE COMPETING WITH

Nine homes your size are for sale right now. Not one of them is a project.

This matters more than it sounds. A buyer who wants a house to renovate, in Amberlea, at this size, currently has nothing to choose from. You would be the only one — and at $799,000 you would be $51,000 below the cheapest detached home this size in the community.

It also sets the ceiling honestly. The move-in-ready homes are asking $1,095,000 to $1,100,000, and the one out longest, at $1.1M, has sat 59 days and already cut its price.

2081 Lynn Heights Dr · Liverpool

$949,999

35 DAYS · POWER OF SALE · ORIGINALLY $1,064,900

The nearest thing to competition, and it is instructive. It started at $1,064,900, has cut 10.8%, and is still sitting after 35 days. A compromised property priced near a thousand dollars a square foot does not move in this market. That is precisely the trap the recommendation below avoids.

648 Cognac Cres · Amberlea

$949,900

18 DAYS · WELL KEPT, PREMIUM PRIVATE LOT

Two streets from you and in better condition. If you list near a million, this is what a buyer compares you to — and you lose that comparison. At $799,000 you are not in that fight at all — you are in a different one, against nobody.

1713 Kirkwood Lane · Amberlea

$899,999

13 DAYS · LARGE LOT, SOME UPGRADES

The same asking price the recommendation suggests, in better condition on a smaller lot. It has been out under two weeks. Worth watching closely in the days before we go live.

705 Edgewood Rd · Amberlea

$850,000

13 DAYS · POOL SOLD AS-IS, FIREPLACE AS-IS

The floor of the Amberlea market at this size, and it carries its own as-is caveats. It is the only active listing asking less than the recommendation.

1905 Wildflower Dr · Amberlea

$1,095,000

19 DAYS · RENOVATED KITCHEN AND BATHROOMS, NEW HARDWOOD

This is what your house would be asking after a full renovation — and 1067 Maury suggests that with a hydro corridor behind it, the achieved number would be closer to $1,058,000. Section 09 does that arithmetic.

1517 Silver Spruce Dr · Liverpool

$1,100,000

59 DAYS · REDUCED FROM $1,150,000

The longest-standing listing in the set and already $50,000 off. The top of this band is where homes are waiting.

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026: Pickering detached active listings, 2,000–2,500 sq ft. Days on market and original list prices as reported on MLS®.

SECTION 09 · WHO BUYS A HOME LIKE YOURS

Two buyers, and both of them are shopping for exactly what you have.

This is not guesswork. The gap between a needs-work home and a finished one in this size band is $136,000 to $198,000. That gap is a renovator's margin — it is the reason this buyer exists, and the reason they move quickly when something like yours appears.

The contractor or investor

They price the work rather than fear it. A 100 amp service, a 2007 furnace and 1999 carpet are line items to them, not deal-breakers — and the roof already being done is the thing that makes the file work. The side entrance from the garage, with room to create a walk-up, is the detail that decides it: four of the ten comparable sales had a second kitchen or a walkout, and yours has the space to add one. With nine active listings in this size band and not one of them a project, they currently have nowhere else to go.

The family renovating to stay

Usually trading up from a smaller Amberlea or Rougemount home, often with parents to accommodate. They want the school catchment, a real lot and a layout they can change — and at 12,195 square feet on a corner, your lot is in the top tenth of anything selling at this size. They will take four bedrooms, 2,473 square feet and a kitchen from 2014 and make the rest theirs over a few years.

Who will not buy it, and why that is fine

The buyer who wants to move in and change nothing. They are being served right now by 1905 Wildflower and 1446 Sandhurst at $1,095,000 and up. Marketing to them wastes the weeks that matter, and it is how a house ends up where 552 Steeple Hill ended up. We will not chase them.

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026. Buyer types are drawn from what the comparable sales and current listings actually offered — bedroom and bathroom counts, second kitchens, walkouts and stated condition — not from assumptions about who lives in Amberlea.

BEFORE YOU SIGN

This is how your listing would look to a buyer.

The last time this house was on the market was 1993. Everything has changed about how a home is found — most buyers will meet 700 Amaretto on a phone screen before they ever drive past it.

Most sellers only see this after the paperwork is signed. You should see it first.

CHOOSE YOUR LEVEL OF SERVICE

Two levels of service. The same duty of care in both.

Everything in the first column is a professional obligation we owe you regardless of what you pay. It appears in both columns because it is never optional.

The clear-out and the pre-inspection are not add-ons. They are inside the fee.

About the clear-out. You have told us there is a great deal to move. That is the single most common reason a sale gets delayed by months, and it is the part people dread. We rent the bin, put it on the driveway, and bring a crew to empty the house once you have taken out everything you want to keep. Then a professional clean, then photography. You do not lift anything and you do not pay for any of it separately — a $3,000 to $4,000 value that sits inside the fee.

Rates shown are total commission including the co-operating brokerage's share, plus HST. Commission is negotiable.

WHAT WE DO FOR YOUR PROPERTY

From full of contents to live on MLS® in five to seven days.

This is the part the other conversations leave out. A renovation is months. This is a week, and we do the lifting.

DAYS 1–2 · CLEAR AND CLEAN

The bin arrives — on your driveway, at our cost

Our crew empties the house — once you have removed what you are keeping

Professional cleaning — every room, before a camera comes near it

Pre-listing inspection booked — so buyers bid on facts, not fears

DAYS 3–4 · PRODUCE

Professional photography — shot and edited for MLS®, print and social

Video walkthrough and drone — the lot is an asset — we show it from above

Floor plans — so buyers can plan the renovation before they offer

Listing copy written to the buyer — contractors and renovating families, not browsers

DAYS 5–7 · LAUNCH

Live on MLS® and realtor.ca — syndicated across every major portal

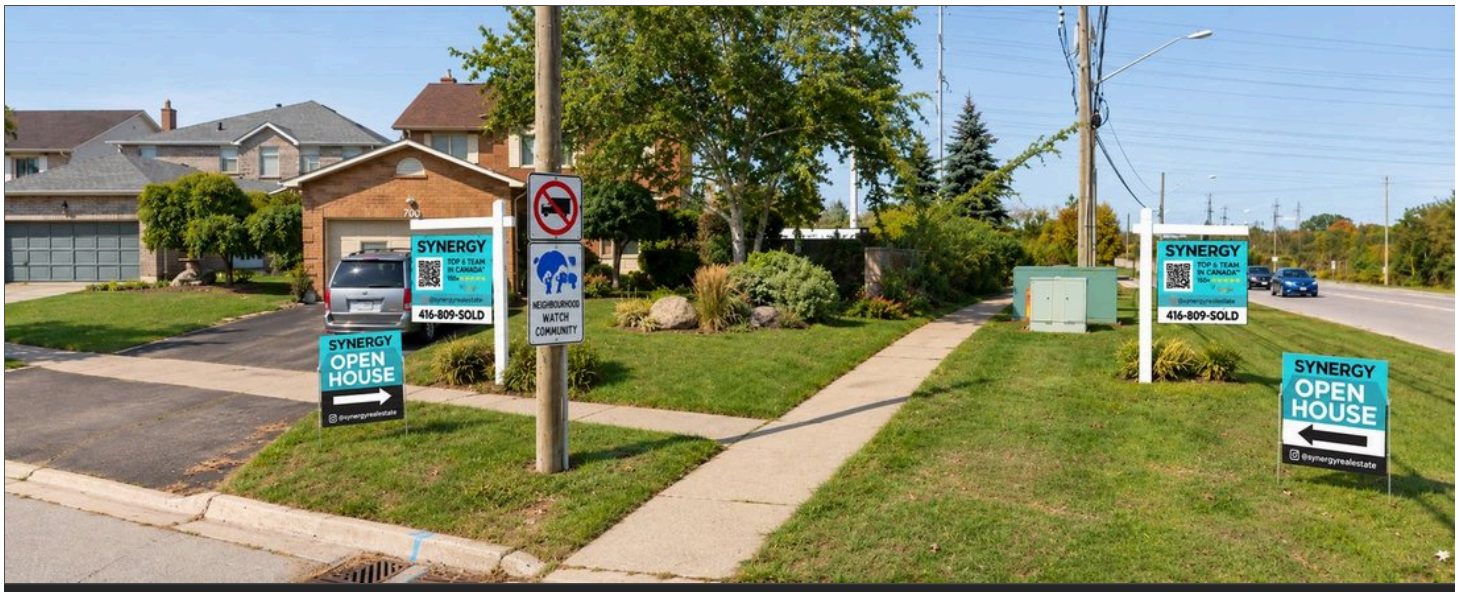

Paid campaign across six pages — targeted at Durham and east Toronto

Signage and open houses — both weekend days before the offer date

Offers reviewed on a published date — buyers compete with each other, not with you

Your corner is the reason signage works here — two frontages, and traffic on both.

Open house directional signs, both weekend days, ahead of the offer date.

OUR COMMITMENT TO YOU

We return more than our fee in value: honest advice, excellent service, and a team that does the work rather than describing it.

About us

I live a minute from this house. That is not a slogan — it decides how this listing is run. I can be at the door for a showing on short notice, meet the bin crew, check on the property between appointments and stand in your driveway on both open house days. An agent coming from Markham or midtown cannot do that, and during the one week that decides your price it matters more than anything else on this page.

QUESTIONS SELLERS ASK

The things worth asking, answered before you have to ask them.

Why not renovate first, the way we have been advised?

Because of what the work costs against what it returns. You have put the job at $160,000 at minimum and $180,000 on average. The one comparable sale that is both fully updated and backs a hydro corridor — 1067 Maury — sold at $428 a square foot, which puts a fully finished 700 Amaretto at about $1,058,000. Spend $180,000 and carry the house four more months and you are at roughly $874,000, about $59,000 ahead of selling now — and only if the work goes perfectly and achieves that finished price. 1067 Maury was in exactly that condition and still took 33 days at 96.1% of asking. If the work lands short of a full finish, which $180,000 very likely does in a house with original paint and wallpaper throughout, you end up between $756,000 and $793,000 — $22,000 to $59,000 behind where you are today.

What is wrong with doing part of it?

A half-renovated house is the worst of both. The contractor who would have paid for the opportunity no longer sees one, and the buyer who wants to move in still sees work. That is exactly what 552 Steeple Hill was — a home that needed work, asking the price of a finished one. It took 111 days and sold for a quarter below its asking price.

Why list at $799,000?

Because it is what the evidence supports, and publishing it openly is what creates competition. The same builder layout as your home — 658 Cognac Crescent — sold for $1,025,000 in March with a partly finished basement, in liveable condition, on an interior street. Working down from that for your unfinished basement, the condition of the house and the corner-and-corridor setting gives $790,000 to $845,000. Listing at $799,000 with a published offer date brings several buyers through on the same weekend. Three homes nearby did exactly this in 2026 and all three sold above their asking price within a week; applying what they achieved gives $809,000 to $858,000. You are never obliged to accept an offer, whatever the list price says.

What if only one buyer turns up on the offer date?

Then you do not have to accept the offer. An offer date is a date for reviewing offers, not a commitment to sell. If the response is thin we talk it through and adjust, and you are better off knowing that in week one than in month three.

Has this house struggled to sell before?

Twice. In 1991 it was listed at $299,900, terminated without selling, came back at $259,900 and sold for $250,000. In 1994 it was listed at $249,800 and expired unsold. Both times the asking price was ahead of what the market would pay, and both times the house sat. That is the single best reason to price this one to bring buyers in rather than to hope.

Does the unfinished basement hurt us?

Against the specific homes you are competing with, yes. Three of the four sales closest to your square footage have a finished basement with a second kitchen or a separate suite, and you have an unfinished basement with no entrance into it. Across the wider market it matters less than you might think — 171 Pickering sales in your size band show almost no difference between finished and unfinished. But buyers compare you to the four, not to the 171. The honest answer is that the side entrance from the garage gives a buyer room to create a walk-up, and that possibility is worth more to the right buyer than a finished rec room would be.

Does the hydro corridor hurt us?

It costs something and we have measured it rather than guessed. The one comparable sale backing a hydro field sold at $428 a square foot while similar updated homes without one reached $456 to $484, and it took the longest to sell of any updated home in the set. That is roughly $28 to $56 a square foot, and it is already inside the valuation. A buyer's agent will raise it; better that we raise it first, with a number attached.

Will the 100 amp service and the 2007 furnace scare buyers off?

Not the buyer we are marketing to, and not if we disclose them properly. A contractor prices a panel upgrade and a furnace without blinking. What frightens buyers is finding things out late — which is why we pay for a home inspection before the house goes up and hand it to every buyer. It takes away the excuse to bid low on uncertainty, and it is included in the fee.

Will I owe tax on the sale?

For a home you have lived in, the principal-residence exemption generally covers the gain. It is the exceptions that cost people money — years the home was rented, a basement suite, land over half a hectare, a period of non-residency. Ask us and we will walk your ownership history year by year. We flag; we do not guess.

Who actually clears the house?

We do. We rent the bin, put it on your driveway and bring a crew in once you have taken out everything you want to keep. Then a professional clean. You do not lift anything and it is not billed to you — it sits inside the fee and is worth $3,000 to $4,000.

How quickly could this happen?

Five to seven days from the bin arriving to the listing going live, then a week on the market to the offer date. Homes listed in Pickering this September and October have been selling in eleven days.

Who will I actually be dealing with?

Terrence, throughout. I live a minute away, I will run this listing personally, and you will hear from me at every stage — not only when there is news.

FROM HERE TO SOLD

A conversation first, then a week of work.

Nothing here commits you to anything. Read it, disagree with it, and let us talk it through together.

Step one · read it over	Take your time with this, both of you. Mark anything you disagree with — particularly the condition notes and the valuation. If something in here is wrong, I would rather know now.
Step two · we talk it through	Half an hour, at your kitchen table or on the phone. We go through the numbers, the strategy and anything you want a second look at — including whether selling is the right move at all. If the answer is to stay, that is a perfectly good answer.
Step three · you decide what you are keeping	Walk the house and set aside what is coming with you. Everything else we handle.
Step four · the week	Bin and crew, professional clean, inspection, photography, video and drone, floor plans. Live on MLS® in five to seven days.
Step five · the offer date	Open houses both weekend days, offers reviewed on a published date, and you choose — or you do not. Either way you will hear from me throughout, not just when there is news.

From the day you say go, roughly two weeks to offers in hand.

— WHEN YOU'RE READY

Read it over, then let's talk it through.

There is no decision to make today, and take as long as you need with it. When you are ready, I am a minute away. If you believe a sale is in your best interest we are glad to explore it together — and if the answer is to hold, that is a perfectly good answer too.
