Zoltan, Natasha — thank you for letting me put this together. Everything here comes out of one MLS® pull run this morning: every detached sale within 600 metres of your door since January, narrowed to the homes that actually compete with yours. It sets out what 38 Berko is worth today, what it would net you, and how I would bring it to market. Where the numbers raise a tax question, I have flagged it rather than guessed — our in-house CPA practice can work through those with you before anything is signed.

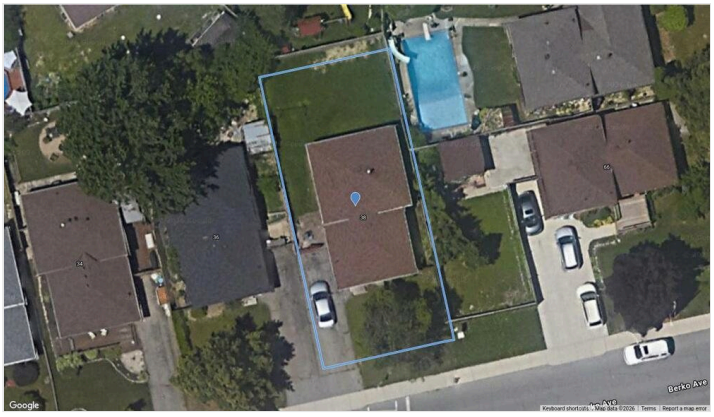

SECTION 01 · THE PROPERTY

A renovated four-bedroom back split with a separate-entrance lower suite, on a 45-foot Lawfield lot.

38 Berko Avenue is a detached three-level back split built in 1975, in the Lawfield pocket south of Mohawk Road East between Upper Sherman and Upper Ottawa. It is a short walk to Lawfield Elementary and Lawfield Arena, and minutes to the Lincoln Alexander Parkway and Limeridge Mall. The home carries 1,219 sq ft above grade over 1,936 sq ft of total living space, four bedrooms up with a fifth below, two full bathrooms, a second kitchen and a finished lower level with its own entrance. Almost everything mechanical was replaced in 2019 and 2020.

Source: Teranet GeoWarehouse® and MPAC records for PIN 169810134, and MLS® X10702978. Floor area is the plans figure carried on the prior listing. Teranet flags its lot measurements as estimates. The tax figure on file is four years old: the three nearest comparable sales carried 2025–2026 taxes between $4,282 and $5,622, and 7 Berko Avenue was assessed at $5,621.62 for 2026. We should put the current bill on the listing rather than the figure on record.

Parcel outline and lot depth. The rear yard runs the full 100 feet.

What stands out

- A separate-entrance finished lower suite — only two of the twenty-five sales in the radius had one
- Four bedrooms above grade where every in-band comparable sold with three
- Furnace, windows, panel, hot water and air conditioning all replaced in 2019–2020
- A four-car drive on a street where several comparables sold with no parking advantage at all

SECTION 02 · OWNERSHIP AND HISTORY

Seven years of ownership, and a renovation that has not yet been tested by the market.

Date	Event	Price
May 2019	Sale to the prior owner	$430,100
October 18, 2019	Purchase by the current owners	$587,500
2019 – 2020	Furnace, windows, tankless hot water, electrical and panel; then fireplace, air conditioning and driveway	—
March 2021	Listed at $699,000 (MLS® X10702978) and terminated after seven days	Terminated
Today	Estimated market value, midpoint	$667,500

Source: Teranet sales history for PIN 169810134 and PropTx MLS® record X10702978. The 2021 listing was terminated, not sold, so it sets no precedent — but it does mean some buyers' agents will have seen the property before.

From the October 2019 purchase to today's midpoint is a gain of about $80,000 over seven years, before the cost of the 2019–2020 work. That is a smaller gain than the headline Hamilton numbers would suggest, and it is worth understanding why: you bought at the top of a renovation flip. The prior owner paid $430,100 in May 2019 and sold to you five months later at $587,500, so a good part of the renovation value was already in your purchase price. What you have added since — mechanicals, the lower suite finish — is real, but it is improvement spending rather than market appreciation, and the two behave differently at sale.

The March 2021 listing at $699,000 is the one piece of history a buyer's agent may raise. It ran seven days and terminated. We should decide together how to handle it before we go live; my view is that it is old enough and short enough not to matter, provided the current list price is defensible on its own evidence.

SECTION 03 · THE MARKET TODAY

The GTA fell five per cent this year. Your price band did not.

DETACHED SALES WITHIN 600 M OF 38 BERKO AVENUE, BY MONTH, 2026

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 8, 2026: 25 detached sales within a 600-metre radius of 38 Berko Avenue, firm on or after January 1, 2026. These are our figures, not board statistics.

Two markets are running at once and they are not moving together. Across the Greater Toronto Area, TRREB reported 5,040 sales in September against 5,592 a year earlier, with the average price down 5.0% to $1,006,409 and detached down 4.9% to $1,292,016. Buyers are waiting; sellers are listing less, with new listings off 14.3%.

Your pocket did something different. Of the twenty-five detached homes sold within 600 metres of you this year, the twenty-one that traded under $750,000 — the band your home sits in — averaged 99.6% of list and took a median of eighteen days. The quarterly averages in that band went $621,500, then $666,687, then $643,214. That is not a market in decline; it is a market holding its level while the million-dollar end of the GTA gives ground. Entry-level Hamilton is where the buyers who have been priced out still are, and it has behaved accordingly.

What has changed is volume. Five sales in June, five in July, two in August and one in September. Fewer homes are trading, but the ones that trade are still getting their price. For a seller that combination favours going to market priced correctly rather than waiting: the buyer pool is thinner, so a list price that invites them in matters more than it did in the spring.

SECTION 04 · THE COMPARABLE SALES

Six sales in the same size class. Three of them tell you what a garage is worth.

The search ran every detached sale within 600 metres, firm since January 1, then narrowed on size. At 1,219 sq ft above grade your home sits in the MLS® 1100–1500 band, and that single filter removed nineteen of the twenty-five sales: the two-storeys on Parkwood and Waldorf at $975,000 and above, the bungalows and raised bungalows at 700–1100, and the four-bathroom homes that serve a different buyer. Six sales are left — five splits inside the radius and one just outside it on Carmen Avenue, kept because it is the only other three-level back split of your size to trade this autumn.

Read the garage column before anything else. The three that sold with one averaged $700,833. The three that sold without one landed on $650,000 — all three, in three different months, from three different list prices. That is the cleanest single finding in this dataset and it is the one that sets your floor.

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 8, 2026, from PropTx MLS® data. Size band is the MLS® range as entered by the listing brokerage; the subject's 1,219 sq ft is the plans figure. Taxes are as reported on each listing. Not board statistics.

SECTION 06 · WHAT YOUR STREET DID

Twenty-five detached sales within 600 metres — and what they say about where yours lands.

Widening out from the six direct comparables to every detached sale in the radius gives the fuller picture. The spread runs from $510,000 to $1,050,000, which looks wide until you separate the two-storeys on Parkwood, Waldorf and Carriagegate from the splits and bungalows on the Berko, Coral, Lawnhurst and Lambert side. Those are different streets with different buyers.

Strip out the four sales above $750,000 and the pattern is tight: twenty-one homes, averaging $645,952, median $650,000, at 99.6% of list in a median eighteen days. Four of them sold at or above the asking price. The two that took more than ninety days — 38 Coral at 98 days and 181 Lawnhurst at 103 — were both homes that opened high and came down, which is the one pattern worth avoiding.

SECTION 05 · WHAT EACH SALE TELLS US

One sale on your own street does most of the work.

7 Berko Avenue · Lawfield — $690,000

SOLD SEPTEMBER 2 · 21 DAYS · 99% OF LIST

Seven doors down, and as close to a mirror as this exercise gets: a three-level back split in the same 1100–1500 band, with a finished nanny and in-law suite off a side entrance, the same retrofit caveat on the basement, and roughly $100,000 of renovation behind it. It listed at $699,000 and sold in three weeks at $690,000. Two things it has that you do not: an attached garage, and a 60-foot frontage against your 45. Two things you have that it does not: a fourth bedroom above grade, and a second kitchen. This is the anchor for everything below.

4 Camelot Drive · Lawfield — $710,000

SOLD JUNE 19 · 36 DAYS · 96% OF LIST

The top of the in-band set, and a useful ceiling. A side split of the same size with a built-in garage, a kitchen remodelled in 2021 and air conditioning from 2022. It opened at $739,000 and needed five weeks and a $29,000 concession to close. Even with the garage and the newer kitchen, $710,000 was the limit in June — the strongest month of the year in this pocket.

217 Lawnhurst Court · Lawfield — $702,500

SOLD MAY 12 · 20 DAYS · 100% OF LIST

Priced at $700,000 and sold at $702,500 in under three weeks: a side split with an attached garage, a finished basement and an updated kitchen. The clearest evidence in the set that a correct list price in this pocket still produces a sale at or over asking.

8 Jeanette Street · Lawfield — $650,000

SOLD MARCH 9 · 26 DAYS · 96% OF LIST

The first of the three no-garage sales. A side split of the same size with four-car parking, an updated kitchen and a finished lower level — but one bathroom and no garage. It opened at $679,900 and came back to $650,000. Your home beats it on bathrooms, bedrooms and the separate entrance.

38 Coral Drive · Lawfield — $650,000

SOLD APRIL 21 · 98 DAYS · 93% OF LIST

The cautionary one. A fully renovated 2025 interior — new flooring, trim, doors, lighting, kitchen and bath — in the same size band with no garage. It listed at $699,000 in January and took ninety-eight days and $49,000 of reductions to reach $650,000. A better interior than most of this set, and it still could not carry a $699,000 ask without a garage. This is the price we should not open at.

17 Carmen Avenue · outside the radius — $650,000

SOLD SEPTEMBER · 93% OF LIST

The only other three-level back split of comparable size to trade this autumn: 1,173 sq ft, one bathroom, unfinished basement. It landed at $650,000 off a $699,000 list. Your finished separate-entrance suite and second bathroom are the difference between this sale and yours.

Two supporting sales worth knowing — $650,000 each

27 LAMBERT STREET · 15 DAYS · 181 BELLINGHAM DRIVE · 4 DAYS

Both are a size band below yours, so neither belongs in the average — but both listed at about $650,000 and sold at 100% of asking, one in fifteen days and one in four. They are the pricing precedent rather than the value evidence: in this pocket, a list price starting with a six moves quickly, and a list price starting with a seven does not.

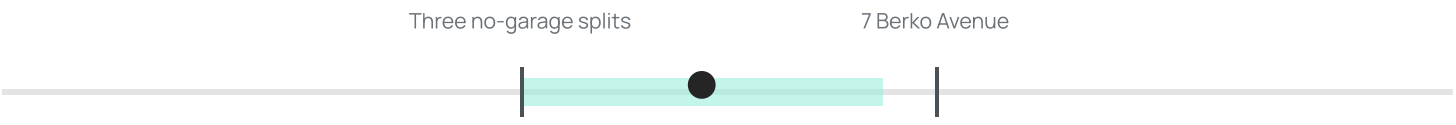

19 Gildea Street · the second-suite comparison — $650,000

SOLD AT 96% OF LIST · 98 DAYS ON MARKET

A 1956 bungalow with one-plus-one kitchens — the closest thing in the search to your lower suite. It opened at $749,900, dropped twice and closed at $650,000 after ninety-eight days. The lesson is not that a second kitchen is worth nothing. It is that a second kitchen does not, on its own, carry a price the rest of the home cannot support.

SECTION 07 · WHERE THE EVIDENCE LANDS

Estimated market value.

The shaded band is the estimated value range; the dot is the midpoint. The left marker is where all three no-garage comparables landed. The right marker is the sale on your own street, which had a garage.

Consideration	Effect on value
Base: the three in-band splits that sold without a garage, at $650,000 each	$650,000
Anchor: 7 Berko Avenue, same street, same style, same size band, in-law suite	$690,000
Garage: the in-band set paid about $50,000 for one. The subject has none	downward
Frontage: 45 feet against 7 Berko's 60, on an equal 100-foot depth	downward
Bedrooms: four above grade plus one below, where every in-band comparable sold with three	upward
Lower level: separate entrance, finished, second kitchen — only two of twenty-five radius sales had one	upward
Mechanicals: furnace, windows, panel, tankless hot water and air conditioning all 2019–2020	upward
Bathrooms: two full, against one in both no-garage comparables	upward
Retrofit status of the lower unit is not warranted, which narrows the financing buyers can use	downward
A tenant in place, unless vacant possession is arranged before listing	downward
Market: the local band held at 99.6% of list on a median eighteen days while the GTA fell 5%	neutral

Adjustments are directional, not dollar-for-dollar except where a figure is shown. The range is the reconciliation of the six in-band sales, weighted toward the two that sit on Berko Avenue and Coral Drive.

$650,000 – $685,000

estimated market value · midpoint $667,500

$649,900 – $659,900

suggested list range — see the two strategies below

The six in-band sales average $675,417 and have a median of $670,000, but the average is carried by three homes with garages. Strip the garage out and the evidence is unusually tidy: three sales, three months, three different list prices, one answer — $650,000. That is the floor, and your home should not finish there, because it brings a fourth bedroom, a second bathroom, a finished separate-entrance suite and seven-year-old mechanicals that none of those three had.

The ceiling is 7 Berko Avenue at $690,000. It is the same house with a garage and fifteen more feet of frontage, and it needed twenty-one days at $699,000 to get there. Your home should land below it, and closer to it than to the floor. $650,000 to $685,000, with $667,500 the honest midpoint.

On list price the evidence is blunt. Every home in this pocket that opened with a seven in front of it — 38 Coral at $699,000, 19 Gildea at $749,900, 181 Lawnhurst at $649,900 after starting higher — spent between ninety-eight and a hundred and three days on the market and finished at or below $650,000. Every home that opened at about $650,000 sold at or above asking inside four weeks. I would list at $659,900.

SECTION 08 · YOUR NET PROCEEDS

What a sale would put in your hands.

Move the slider to see the net at any price in the range. Selling and closing costs here are the total commission including the co-operating brokerage's share and HST, plus an estimate for legal. Your mortgage payout is not included because I do not have the balance — add it and you have the figure that matters.

SALE PRICE

$665,000

$630,000 $710,000

Selling and closing costs (commission at 5.65% incl. HST, plus legal)	– $39,573
Net proceeds before any mortgage payout	$625,428

Legal and closing estimated at $2,000. Mortgage payout, moving costs and any adjustment for the tenancy are not included. Commission is negotiable and is set in the listing agreement.

Sale price	Selling and closing costs	Net before mortgage payout	Net gain over the 2019 purchase
$650,000	$38,725	$611,275	$23,775
$667,500	$39,714	$627,786	$40,286
$685,000	$40,703	$644,297	$56,797

At the Signature 5% package including HST, plus $2,000 legal. Gain is measured against the $587,500 paid in October 2019 and is before the cost of the 2019–2020 work, land transfer tax and closing costs on that purchase, all of which add to your adjusted cost base. See the tax notes.

Two ways to price it

	List at $659,900 — price to the evidence	List at $689,900 — price to the ceiling
List price	$659,900	$689,900
What the pocket did at this level	27 Lambert and 181 Bellingham both listed at about $650,000 and sold at 100% in 15 and 4 days	38 Coral listed at $699,000 and took 98 days to reach $650,000; 19 Gildea took 98 days from $749,900
Likely outcome	Full-price offers inside three weeks, with a real chance of competition	Three to four weeks of quiet, then a reduction into the $650,000s
Expected sale	$660,000 – $685,000	$645,000 – $660,000
Risk	Leaving money on the table if two buyers show up — manageable with an offer date	A stale listing. Days on market is public, and buyers price it in

A mid-October listing catches the last clear run before the market quiets in late November. The two columns are not predictions; they are what the comparable sales in this radius did at each level this year.

SECTION 09 · WHO BUYS A HOME LIKE YOURS

Three buyers — and one of them is why this house is not an ordinary back split.

Of the twenty-five detached homes sold within 600 metres this year, only two had a finished separate-entrance lower unit with its own kitchen. Both sold quickly: 7 Berko Avenue in twenty-one days at 99% of list, and 50 Lawnhurst Drive, a three-plus-three raised bungalow, in eleven days. That is a thin sample, but it points the same way twice, and it is the thing about your home that the marketing has to carry.

The multi-generational family

The buyer this house was renovated for. Four bedrooms upstairs, a fifth and a full kitchen downstairs behind its own door. In Lawfield that buyer is usually a family bringing parents over or keeping an adult child at home while they save, and they are paying for the layout rather than the finishes. They will not care that the retrofit status is unwarranted, because nobody is signing a lease — but their lender might, so we price and position accordingly.

The first-time buyer priced out of Toronto

At $659,900 this is one of very few detached four-bedroom homes inside the Lincoln Alexander Parkway with four-car parking and nothing urgent to spend money on. The 2019–2020 mechanicals matter more to this buyer than to any other: furnace, windows, panel and hot water all done means no five-figure surprise in year one. They will be the most numerous group at an open house.

The small investor

For this buyer, the tenant in place is a feature rather than a problem, and the lower suite is the whole reason to look. They will underwrite on rent rather than on finishes, and they will ask about retrofit status and fire separation on the first call — so we should have the answer ready rather than discovering it during a conditional period. Expect this buyer to bid, but rarely to be the top bid against a family.

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 8, 2026: all twenty-five detached sales within 600 m, reviewed for basement configuration as described in the listing remarks.

SECTION 10 · WORTH A CLOSER LOOK

Four things to work through before anything is signed.

These are flags, not advice. Each one is work our in-house CPA practice can do with you as part of the listing rather than as a separate engagement billed afterwards — and each one is cheaper to settle now than to discover at closing.

A PRINCIPAL RESIDENCE WITH A RENTED LOWER UNIT	If 38 Berko has been your home since 2019 and part of it has also been rented, the principal residence exemption may still cover the whole property. CRA's long-standing administrative position is that it can, where the rental use is ancillary to the main use as a home, there is no structural change to the property, and no capital cost allowance has been claimed against the rental portion. Claiming CCA is the step that usually breaks it, and it cannot be undone retroactively. The first question to answer is whether any CCA was ever claimed on the lower unit — before we talk about price.
THE DISPOSITION HAS TO BE REPORTED EVEN IF NO TAX IS OWING	Since 2016, every sale of a principal residence must be reported on Schedule 3 with Form T2091 in the year of sale, whether or not the gain is fully exempt. Late-filing this carries a penalty, and it is one of the most common misses we see on a return that has otherwise been done properly. We would prepare it as part of the file.
YOUR ADJUSTED COST BASE IS LARGER THAN THE PURCHASE PRICE	If any part of the gain turns out to be taxable, the figure that matters is not the $587,500 on the transfer. Land transfer tax, legal fees on the 2019 purchase, and the capital portion of the 2019–2020 work — furnace, windows, electrical panel, tankless hot water, air conditioning, driveway — all add to the cost base. Those receipts are worth pulling together now while they are still findable, not in April. On the flipping rule, you are clear: that provision catches residential property held under 365 days, and you are seven years in.
THE TENANCY, AND WHAT IT DOES TO THE SALE	Not a tax question, but it will shape the price more than any of the above. Under the Residential Tenancies Act a buyer cannot simply take possession: vacant possession has to be arranged before closing, either by agreement with the tenant or through the purchaser's own-use route, and the timelines are not short. Selling with the tenancy in place is perfectly workable — it just narrows the buyer pool to investors and families willing to wait, and that narrowing has a price. We should decide which way we are going before the listing goes live, not after an offer arrives.

HOW WE HELP

Our in-house professionals flag what deserves a closer look before it becomes a costly mistake — and make sure you take advantage of everything available to you.

Flags for discussion, not legal or tax advice. Marshall Accounting and Tax Advisory can review your specific circumstances, and a lawyer should review anything touching the tenancy.

BEFORE YOU SIGN

This is how your listing would look to a buyer.

Most sellers never see this until after the paperwork is signed. Here is the draft — the photo order, the headline, the first two lines a buyer actually reads before they decide whether to book. Tell me what you would change.

The photography below is from your 2021 listing, used here only so you can see the layout. Every image would be reshot: professional stills, floor plans, and drone footage of the lot and the rear yard, all before anything goes live.

WHAT WE DO FOR YOUR PROPERTY

Presentation is what produces competition — so we handle it, not you.

The comparable sales make the point. 217 Lawnhurst Court sold at 100% of asking in twenty days. 38 Coral Drive, with a better interior, took ninety-eight days and $49,000 off. The difference was how each one arrived. Everything below is delivered by our team and coordinated by me, before your home goes live.

PRODUCTION AND EXPOSURE

Professional photography — shot and edited for MLS®, print and social

Videography and aerial drone — full walkthrough, plus the lot and rear yard from above

Floor plans — measured and drafted for every level, including the lower suite

We guide you before, during and after the sale. We're here for life.

About us

SYNERGY Real Estate Group is a residential and light-commercial team under REAL Broker Ontario Ltd., Brokerage — part of the Real REMAX Group family of brands. Andres Ramirez is your REALTOR® on this file, with the full team behind him: Terrence Marshall, a REALTOR® and Chartered Professional Accountant with nine years in the business and more than $250M in personal sales; Ian Serota, Broker; and Heaven Kaymen Joseph.

Our sister firm, Marshall Accounting and Tax Advisory, gives every seller something no other team can offer: a CPA on the file from the first conversation, so the tax picture is understood before you sign rather than discovered at closing.

YOUR TEAM

One REALTOR® on your file, and a CPA practice and legal counsel behind him.

Andres Ramirez

REALTOR® · YOUR AGENT ON THIS FILE

Runs 38 Berko end to end: pricing, preparation, photography, showings, negotiation and the week-to-week. One point of contact, and the person who answers the phone.

Terrence Marshall

REALTOR® · CPA · TEAM LEAD

Nine years in real estate with more than $250M in personal sales, and a Chartered Professional Accountant specializing in real estate taxation. Reviews pricing on every team listing, and handles the tax questions on this file himself.

Ian Serota

BROKER

Brokerage-level backing on the file. Available to Andres for contract structure and unusual terms, which on a tenanted sale is worth having in the building.

Heaven Kaymen Joseph

REALTOR®

Marketing production and buyer-side coverage, including the social and digital campaign that runs behind each listing.

Marshall Accounting and Tax Advisory

IN-HOUSE CPA PRACTICE

Principal residence designations, capital gains, cost-base reconstruction and rental-use questions reviewed as part of the listing — not as a separate engagement billed later.

CONTRACT, TENANCY AND TITLE REVIEW

Conditions, the tenancy, requisitions and title issues found before they become expensive. Most sellers only learn about these on closing day.

QUESTIONS SELLERS ASK

The things most people want to ask, answered before you have to.

What if it doesn't sell?

Then we adjust on evidence, not nerves. You get showing and traffic data weekly, and we agree in advance what a slow first two weeks means. Most homes that stall were mispriced at launch or shown badly — both of which we handle before day one.

Why not just list high and see what happens?

Because the market reads it, and this pocket proves it. 38 Coral Drive opened at $699,000 and took ninety-eight days and $49,000 in reductions. 19 Gildea Street opened at $749,900 and took ninety-eight days to reach $650,000. Meanwhile 217 Lawnhurst Court opened at $700,000 and sold over asking in twenty days, and 181 Bellingham Drive sold at full price in four. The first ten days carry the most buyer attention you will ever get.

Does the tenant have to leave before we sell?

No — but it changes who buys. You can sell with the tenancy in place, which brings investors and patient families, or arrange vacant possession first, which opens the listing to everyone. The Residential Tenancies Act sets the process and the notice periods either way, and our legal counsel walks you through it before we list rather than after an offer lands.

Our basement unit isn't a legal second suite. Is that a problem?

It is a disclosure item, not a deal-breaker. 7 Berko Avenue sold in twenty-one days at 99% of list with exactly the same caveat on its listing. What matters is that we say it plainly up front and price accordingly, so it never becomes a renegotiation during a conditional period.

Can I just do it myself, or use a discount brokerage?

You can. What you would be taking on is the preparation, the photography, the ad spend, the showings, the negotiation and the paperwork — and carrying the risk on all of it. Our packages exist so you can choose how much of that you want handled.

How long does it actually take?

From the decision to list, about two weeks of preparation, then a firm sale typically in thirty to sixty days. In this pocket the median was eighteen days this year. Closing is usually thirty to ninety days after that, and the date is negotiable to suit you.

What will I actually walk away with?

Use the slider in the net proceeds section — those are your real numbers at any price. The only thing not shown is your mortgage payout, which your lender confirms in writing.

Do I pay anything if we don't sell?

No. Commission is earned on a completed sale. Staging, painting and photography at the Signature and Concierge levels are ours to carry.

Should I renovate first?

Not here. Your mechanicals are done and your interior is seven years old, which is exactly what this buyer wants. Paint, decluttering and staging return far more per dollar than a kitchen does, and they take two weeks rather than three months.

What happens to my taxes?

That is the question most agents cannot answer. Terrence Marshall on our team is a CPA, so the tax picture gets reviewed as part of the file — the principal residence position on a home with a rented lower unit, the cost base, the Schedule 3 reporting — before you sign, not after closing.

Who will I actually be dealing with?

Me. I run the file from the first conversation through closing. Behind me is a five-agent team plus in-house legal and accounting, so nothing sits because someone is away — but you are never handed off.

What if I change my mind?

Tell me. We would rather pause a listing than push a family into a sale they are not ready for. This business was built on families who came back and who sent their relatives.

FROM HERE TO SOLD

What the next six weeks would look like.

This week	A walkthrough so I can see the home rather than the 2021 photographs, and we confirm the above-grade measurement. Two things I need from you: the current property tax bill, and whether any capital cost allowance was ever claimed against the lower unit.
Week 1	Decision on the tenancy — sell occupied or arrange vacant possession — with our legal counsel on the call. This decision gates everything after it, including the photography date.
Week 2	Painting and staging scoped and booked, then professional photography, floor plans for all three levels, and drone footage of the lot and rear yard. Listing copy to you for approval.
Week 3	Live on MLS® at the agreed price, with the ad campaign starting the same day. First weekend open house. You get traffic and feedback data from day one.
Weeks 4–5	Offers reviewed with you, line by line, and negotiated. If we are quiet after fourteen days we meet and look at the data together rather than guessing.
Closing	Legal review of the agreement and conditions, and the Schedule 3 and T2091 work prepared by Marshall Accounting so the reporting is done properly in the year of sale.

NEXT STEPS

I'll follow up in the next day or two.

Take your time with this. When you are ready, the quickest next step is a walkthrough — half an hour at the house, and I can confirm the measurement and the condition against what the comparable sales actually had. Anything in here you want challenged, challenge it: every number has a source and I am happy to show the pull it came from.
