

MARKET ANALYSIS & LISTING PROPOSAL · OCTOBER 19, 2026

700 Amaretto Avenue

Pickering · Amberlea · Prepared for Brenda and John Liska

Prepared by Terrence Marshall, CPA · REALTOR® · CPA · Team Lead
SYNERGY Real Estate Group · REAL Broker Ontario Ltd., Brokerage

Brenda, John — thank you for having me through. I live a minute from your door, so I will be direct: this house does not need a renovation before it sells. It needs to be cleared, presented properly and priced to bring buyers through the door on the same weekend. Everything that follows is the evidence for that, from one MLS® pull run today.

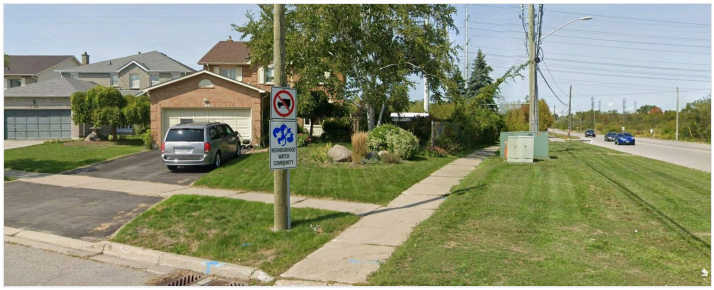

SECTION 01 · THE PROPERTY

2,473 square feet on a lot more than twice the local average.

Built in 1984 and held by your family ever since. The two most expensive things a buyer worries about — the roof and the kitchen — are already done. What is left is dated rather than broken, and that is a very different conversation.

ABOVE-GRADE FLOOR AREA	2,473 sq ft — MPAC Residential Floor Area Report
LOT	12,195 sq ft (0.28 acre), irregular · 49.58 ft frontage · corner
BUILT	1984 · detached 2-storey
BEDROOMS / BATHS	4 · 2 full + 1 half
GARAGE	Attached, 2 spaces · side entrance from the garage
BASEMENT	Unfinished · side entrance, not yet into the basement
2025 PROPERTY TAX	$7,291
ASSESSMENT	$566,000 (2026 phased-in, based on January 1 2016)
ZONING	S2 · abuts a hydro corridor

The corner position and the hydro corridor behind are both priced into the analysis that follows.

What stands out

- Roof replaced about three years ago — the single largest item a buyer discounts for, already behind you
- Kitchen 2014, air conditioning about 2021, deck 2019 — a twelve-year-old kitchen reads dated, not original
- Water heater 2011 and owned — no rental contract for a buyer to assume
- Side entrance from the garage — and the room to create a walk-up to the basement
- Furnace and humidifier 2007 · 100 amp service · windows 2000 · carpet 1999 — the four items a buyer will price, and we disclose all four up front

SECTION 02 · THE MARKET, AND THE CALENDAR

Homes listed in October, November and December last year all sold below asking. Every single one.

MEDIAN DAYS TO SELL, BY THE MONTH THE HOME WAS LISTED — PICKERING DETACHED

Every home listed in the October–December 2025 window sold below its asking price. In February and September, roughly half did.

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026: 492 Pickering detached sales, grouped by the month each home was listed rather than the month it sold.

There are two things happening, and only one of them is about price.

Across the Greater Toronto Area our extract holds 45,603 sales to September 30. The average sale price in September was $1,014,122 against $1,079,568 in May, and monthly volume fell from 6,510 in June to 4,842 in September. Pickering itself has held steadier than that: the share of asking achieved has sat between 97% and 98.5% all year, and the first nineteen days of October ran at 98.2% over a median of 13 days.

The calendar is the sharper risk. Grouped by the month a home was listed, the late-autumn window is unmistakable: 101 days, 59 days, 40 days — and not one of those homes sold for its asking price. A listing that waits for work to finish is a listing that lands in that window.

One more thing worth knowing, because most agents will not mention it. The Bank of Canada has held its policy rate at 2.25%. But a buyer's budget is set by the fixed rate, and fixed rates are priced off the bond market, not off the Bank. Five-year Government of Canada yields climbed through early October and the lenders followed — BMO raised its five-year fixed 20 basis points to 5.14% on October 7. Every month of delay is a month of that working against your buyer's borrowing power.

SECTION 03 · THE COMPARABLE SALES

Ten sales. Four of them are within one and a half per cent of your square footage.

Every detached sale used here is between roughly 2,100 and 2,700 square feet above grade, in Pickering, this year. Four landed within 1.5% of your 2,473 — which is rare, and it means the differences in price are condition and lot, not size.

Sort any column. The two to watch are the last column and the second-to-last.

1911 Rosebank Rd Amberlea	$850,000	$799,900	106.3%	7	2,138	$398	As-is, offer date

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026, from PropTx MLS® data: Pickering detached sales 2,100–2,700 sq ft above grade. Condition is read from each listing's own description. 560 Steeple Hill reports a 2,000–2,500 sq ft band rather than an exact figure.

SECTION 04 · WHAT CONDITION IS ACTUALLY WORTH

The whole spread between a tired house and a renovated one is $55 to $80 a square foot.

This is the number that decides whether renovating first is worth doing. Homes needing work sold between $361 and $404 per square foot. Homes updated throughout sold between $456 and $484. On 2,473 square feet, that entire gap is $136,000 to $198,000 — and that is the gap between original and finished, not between your house and a finished one.

Your house is not at the bottom of that ladder. The roof is three years old, the kitchen is 2014, the air conditioning is about 2021. You are already partway up it, which is why the valuation that follows sits near the top of the needs-work range rather than the middle.

PRICE PER SQUARE FOOT BY CONDITION — SAME SIZE BAND, SAME CITY, THIS YEAR

Left to right: overpriced and needing work · as-is · needs work · updated but backing a hydro corridor · updated kitchen · updated throughout. 700 Amaretto is assessed at about $390.

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026. Condition read from each listing's own description. One note on the lot: across 168 Pickering detached sales in this size band, lot size and price per square foot correlate at only 0.15 — the market here pays for the house more than the land, which is why the lot is treated as support for the top of the range rather than as a premium of its own.

SECTION 05 · THE FIVE SALES THAT DECIDE THIS

Two streets answer the question better than any average could.

552 and 560 Steeple Hill · Woodlands

$900,000 and $860,000

2,490 SQ FT · 111 DAYS · 75.1% OF ASKING · VS · 2,000–2,500 SQ FT · 6 DAYS · 101.3% OF ASKING

The same street, the same year, both needing work. 552 asked $1,199,000 — the price a renovated home would fetch — and spent 111 days finding out it was not one, finally selling at $900,000, a quarter below its asking price. 560 asked $849,000, told buyers plainly it was sold as is and required work, and was gone in six days above its asking price. The second seller did not get less money for being honest about the house. They got more, faster, and with far less of their life spent on it.

1911 Rosebank Road · Amberlea

$850,000

2,138 SQ FT · 7 DAYS · 106.3% OF ASKING · $398 PER SQ FT

The closest thing to a rehearsal for your sale, and it happened in your own community in July. Sold as is, no warranties, a pre-list inspection made available to every buyer, contents left in the home and offered separately, and a published date for reviewing offers. It was listed at $799,900 and sold for $850,000 — more than fifty thousand above asking, in a week. That is the strategy this document recommends, and it is not theory. It is what worked here, this year, on a house in your condition.

499 Lightfoot Place · Woodlands

$976,000

2,415 SQ FT · 13 DAYS · 95.2% OF ASKING · $404 PER SQ FT

Within 2% of your square footage and openly marketed as a home to renovate. It had two advantages yours does not — a walkout basement already in place and a cul-de-sac backing onto parkland. It is the ceiling for a needs-work home of this size, and your valuation sits just underneath it.

1067 Maury Crescent · Liverpool

$960,000

2,242 SQ FT · 33 DAYS · 96.1% OF ASKING · $428 PER SQ FT

The one sale in the set that backs onto a hydro field, which makes it the fairest read on what the corridor behind you costs. It was updated — a 2022 kitchen, new broadloom — yet it sold at $428 a square foot while comparable updated homes without a corridor reached $456 to $484, and it took 33 days, the longest of any updated home here. That is roughly $28 to $56 a square foot of corridor discount, and it is also the honest answer to what your house would be worth if you renovated it: around $1,058,000, not $1,200,000.

692 Amaretto Avenue · four doors from you

$1,020,000

2,655 SQ FT · 6 DAYS · 107.4% OF ASKING · $384 PER SQ FT

You will have this number in mind, so let us deal with it directly. It is a real sale and a good one — but it is 182 square feet larger than yours, it sold in January when homes were selling in eight days at full asking, and it got there by being listed at $949,900 and letting buyers compete up to $1,020,000. That is the same underlist strategy recommended below. At $384 a square foot it is also the lowest rate of any Amberlea sale in this size band, which is the corridor showing up in the numbers on your own street.

658 Cognac Crescent · Amberlea

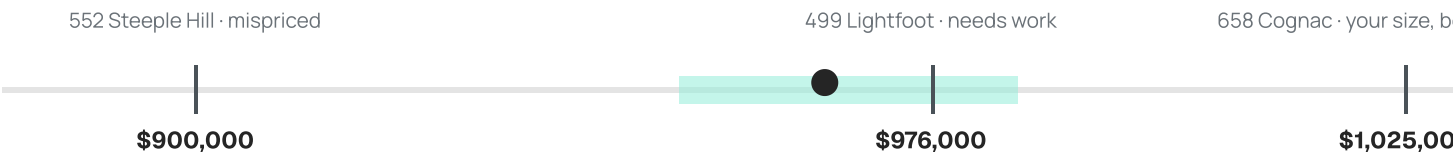

$1,025,000

2,473 SQ FT · 97.6% OF ASKING · $414 PER SQ FT

Your exact square footage, in your community, with no renovation claimed in the listing. It sold in March for $1,025,000 on a lot less than half the size of yours. Set against it, your house carries a bigger and better lot and a newer roof, and against that a hydro corridor, a 2007 furnace, a 100 amp service and 1999 carpet — plus seven months of a market that has eased since.

SECTION 06 · WHERE THE EVIDENCE LANDS

Estimated market value.

The shaded band is the estimated value range; the dot is the midpoint.

Consideration	Effect on value
Benchmark: 499 Lightfoot Pl, 2,415 sq ft, openly marketed as a renovation project	$976,000
It had a walkout basement already in place; yours does not	–
It backed onto parkland on a cul-de-sac; yours is a corner lot abutting a hydro corridor	–
Your lot is 12,195 sq ft against its 8,082 — but lot size and price correlate weakly here (0.15)	+ slight
You are 58 sq ft larger	+ slight
Roof replaced roughly 2023 — the largest single item a buyer discounts for	+
Kitchen 2014, air conditioning about 2021, deck 2019, water heater owned	+
Furnace and humidifier 2007, 100 amp original service, windows 2000, carpet 1999, garage and living-room lighting outstanding	–
Contents to be cleared before photography — handled by us, at no cost to you	neutral
Corroboration: 692 Amaretto, your own street, at $384 per sq ft	$950,000
Corroboration: the needs-work band runs $361–404 per sq ft; this valuation sits at $390	$965,000

Adjustments are directional except where a figure is shown. All sale figures from SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026.

$950,000 – $985,000

estimated market value · midpoint $965,000

$899,000

recommended list price — with a published offer date. The reasoning is in Section 09.

What this is built on. Records, ten comparable sales and a walkthrough of your home on October 19. It is not an appraisal, and no one has measured the rooms or inspected the mechanicals. A home inspection could move this either way, which is exactly why we pay for one before the house goes up rather than letting a buyer's inspector set the agenda.

The number to hold on to is the midpoint, not the list price. The $899,000 below is a marketing decision, not a value. The evidence that it produces more than $899,000 is in Section 09.

SECTION 07 · WHO YOU WOULD BE COMPETING WITH

Nine homes your size are for sale right now. Not one of them is a project.

This matters more than it sounds. A buyer who wants a house to renovate, in Amberlea, at this size, currently has nothing to choose from. You would be the only one.

It also sets the ceiling honestly. The renovated homes are asking $1,095,000 to $1,100,000 — and the one that has been out longest, at $1.1M, has been sitting 59 days and has already cut its price.

2081 Lynn Heights Dr · Liverpool

$949,999

35 DAYS · POWER OF SALE · ORIGINALLY $1,064,900

The nearest thing to competition, and it is instructive. It started at $1,064,900, has cut 10.8%, and is still sitting after 35 days. A compromised property priced near a thousand dollars a square foot does not move in this market. That is precisely the trap the recommendation below avoids.

648 Cognac Cres · Amberlea

$949,900

18 DAYS · WELL KEPT, PREMIUM PRIVATE LOT

Two streets from you and in better condition. If you list near a million, this is what a buyer compares you to — and you lose that comparison. At $899,000 you are not in that fight at all.

1713 Kirkwood Lane · Amberlea

$899,999

13 DAYS · LARGE LOT, SOME UPGRADES

The same asking price the recommendation suggests, in better condition on a smaller lot. It has been out under two weeks. Worth watching closely in the days before we go live.

705 Edgewood Rd · Amberlea

$850,000

13 DAYS · POOL SOLD AS-IS, FIREPLACE AS-IS

The floor of the Amberlea market at this size, and it carries its own as-is caveats. It is the only active listing asking less than the recommendation.

1905 Wildflower Dr · Amberlea

$1,095,000

19 DAYS · RENOVATED KITCHEN AND BATHROOMS, NEW HARDWOOD

This is what your house would be asking after a full renovation — and 1067 Maury suggests that with a hydro corridor behind it, the achieved number would be closer to $1,058,000. Section 09 does that arithmetic.

1517 Silver Spruce Dr · Liverpool

$1,100,000

59 DAYS · REDUCED FROM $1,150,000

The longest-standing listing in the set and already $50,000 off. The top of this band is where homes are waiting.

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026: Pickering detached active listings, 2,000–2,500 sq ft. Days on market and original list prices as reported on MLS®.

SECTION 08 · WHO BUYS A HOME LIKE YOURS

Two buyers, and both of them are shopping for exactly what you have.

This is not guesswork. The gap between a needs-work home and a finished one in this size band is $136,000 to $198,000. That gap is a renovator's margin — it is the reason this buyer exists, and the reason they move quickly when something like yours appears.

The contractor or investor

They price the work rather than fear it. A 100 amp service, a 2007 furnace and 1999 carpet are line items to them, not deal-breakers — and the roof already being done is the thing that makes the file work. The side entrance from the garage, with room to create a walk-up, is the detail that decides it: four of the ten comparable sales had a second kitchen or a walkout, and yours has the space to add one. With nine active listings in this size band and not one of them a project, they currently have nowhere else to go.

The family renovating to stay

Usually trading up from a smaller Amberlea or Rougemount home, often with parents to accommodate. They want the school catchment, a real lot and a layout they can change — and at 12,195 square feet on a corner, your lot is in the top tenth of anything selling at this size. They will take four bedrooms, 2,473 square feet and a kitchen from 2014 and make the rest theirs over a few years.

Who will not buy it, and why that is fine

The buyer who wants to move in and change nothing. They are being served right now by 1905 Wildflower and 1446 Sandhurst at $1,095,000 and up. Marketing to them wastes the weeks that matter, and it is how a house ends up where 552 Steeple Hill ended up. We will not chase them.

SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026. Buyer types are drawn from what the comparable sales and current listings actually offered — bedroom and bathroom counts, second kitchens, walkouts and stated condition — not from assumptions about who lives in Amberlea.

SECTION 09 · THE STRATEGY, AND WHY IT IS PROVEN

List at $899,000 with a published offer date.

Move the slider to see what any sale price leaves in your hands. Then read the two columns underneath — that is the real decision.

Two ways to price it

	List at $899,000 with an offer date — the recommendation	List at $965,000 and wait
What the price says to a buyer	This is a project, priced like one. Come and see it.	This is close to what a finished house costs.
Who comes through the door	Contractors and renovating families, in volume, in the first weekend	The move-in buyer, who then compares you to 648 Cognac at $949,900 and 1905 Wildflower at $1,095,000 — and chooses one of them
Who already ran this play	1911 Rosebank: listed $799,900, sold $850,000 in 7 days. 560 Steeple Hill: listed $849,000, sold $860,000 in 6 days. 692 Amaretto: listed $949,900, sold $1,020,000 in 6 days	552 Steeple Hill: listed $1,199,000, sold $900,000 after 111 days
Likely time on market	Offers reviewed on day 7	Measured in months, with at least one price reduction
Where it likely lands	$950,000 – $985,000	Below $950,000, after a reduction and a winter on the market
The risk	If only one buyer appears you are not obliged to accept anything on the offer date. The list price does not bind you — you do not have to sell at $899,000, or at all	A listing that goes stale. Buyers track days on market, and after three or four weeks every offer starts from a discount

All four named sales are from SYNERGY's own MLS® pull, October 19, 2026.

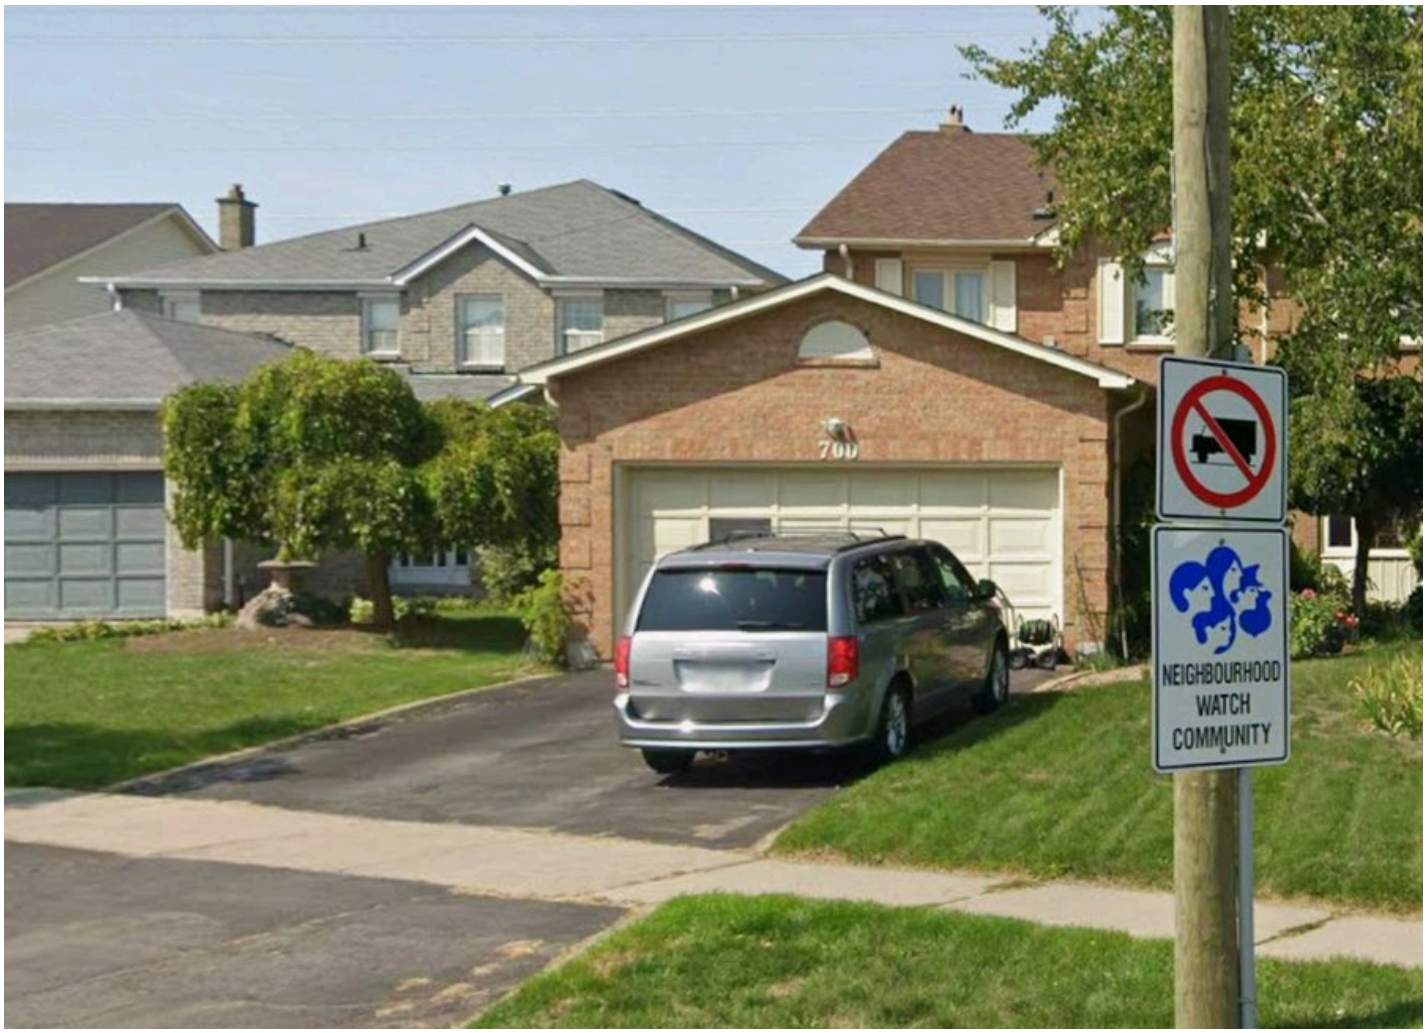

BEFORE YOU SIGN

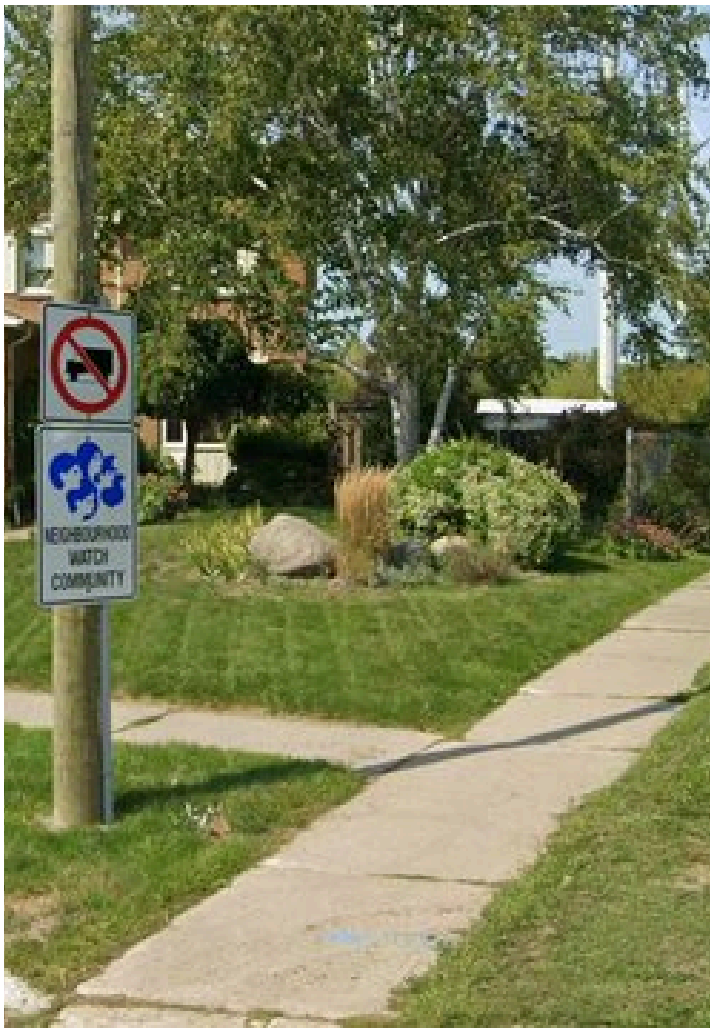

This is how your listing would look to a buyer.

The last time this house was on the market was 1993. Everything has changed about how a home is found — most buyers will meet 700 Amaretto on a phone screen before they ever drive past it.

Most sellers only see this after the paperwork is signed. You should see it first.

About the clear-out. You have told us there is a great deal to move. That is the single most common reason a sale gets delayed by months, and it is the part people dread. We rent the bin, put it on the driveway, and bring a crew to empty the house once you have taken out everything you want to keep. Then a professional clean, then photography. You do not lift anything and you do not pay for any of it separately — a $3,000 to $4,000 value that sits inside the fee.

Rates shown are total commission including the co-operating brokerage's share, plus HST. Commission is negotiable.

WHAT WE DO FOR YOUR PROPERTY

From full of contents to live on MLS® in five to seven days.

This is the part the other conversations leave out. A renovation is months. This is a week, and we do the lifting.

DAYS 1–2 · CLEAR AND CLEAN

- The bin arrives — on your driveway, at our cost
- Our crew empties the house — once you have removed what you are keeping
- Professional cleaning — every room, before a camera comes near it
- Pre-listing inspection booked — so buyers bid on facts, not fears

DAYS 3–4 · PRODUCE

- Professional photography — shot and edited for MLS®, print and social
- Video walkthrough and drone — the lot is an asset — we show it from above
- Floor plans — so buyers can plan the renovation before they offer
- Listing copy written to the buyer — contractors and renovating families, not browsers

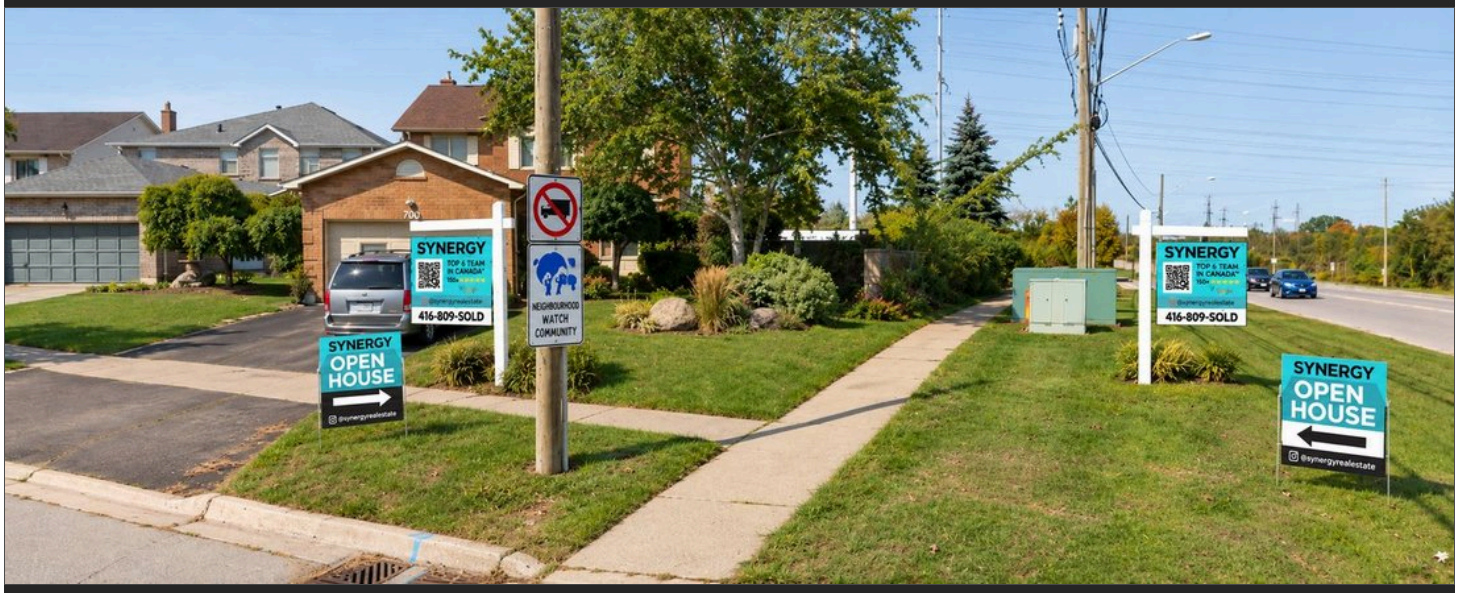

DAYS 5–7 · LAUNCH

- Live on MLS® and realtor.ca — syndicated across every major portal
- Paid campaign across six pages — targeted at Durham and east Toronto
- Signage and open houses — both weekend days before the offer date

Offers reviewed on a published date — buyers compete with each other, not with you

Your corner is the reason signage works here — two frontages, and traffic on both.

Open house directional signs, both weekend days, ahead of the offer date.

OUR COMMITMENT TO YOU

We return more than our fee in value: honest advice, excellent service, and a team that does the work rather than describing it.

About us

I live a minute from this house. That is not a slogan — it decides how this listing is run. I can be at the door for a showing on short notice, meet the bin crew, check on the property between appointments and stand in your driveway on both open house days. An agent coming from Markham or midtown cannot do that, and during the one week that decides your price it matters more than anything else on this page.

SYNERGY Real Estate Group is a residential and light-commercial team under REAL Broker Ontario Ltd., Brokerage. I am a REALTOR® and a Chartered Professional Accountant, nine years in real estate with more than $250 million in personal sales, with an accounting practice — Marshall Accounting and Tax Advisory — and in-house legal counsel behind the file.

YOUR TEAM

A REALTOR® who is also a CPA — with a practice behind him.

QUESTIONS SELLERS ASK

The things worth asking, answered before you have to ask them.

Why not renovate first, the way we have been advised?

Because the arithmetic does not support it. The gap between a needs-work home and a finished one at this size is $55 to $80 a square foot — $136,000 to $198,000 on your house, and that is the full gap from original to finished. The one comparable sale that was both updated and backs a hydro corridor sold at $428 a square foot, which puts a fully renovated 700 Amaretto at roughly $1,058,000. Take off $130,000 of work and three or four months of carrying costs and you net about $924,000 — less than the $950,000 to $985,000 this document estimates you would get now, without lifting a hammer. And that assumes the work goes perfectly and lands the full renovated price. 433 Woodsmere was updated throughout and still took 41 days to sell at 94% of its asking price.

And if the work pushed us into December?

That is the part that costs the most. Every Pickering detached home listed in October, November and December last year sold below its asking price — 101, 59 and 40 days to sell. Homes listed in February and September this year took eleven days and got close to 99%. On a $950,000 house, that difference is worth $24,000 to $53,000 before you count the cost of the renovation itself.

Why list at $899,000 when you say it is worth $965,000?

Because the asking price is a marketing decision, not a valuation. Listing below value brings several buyers through on the same weekend and lets them bid against one another. Three homes did exactly this nearby in 2026 — 1911 Rosebank, 560 Steeple Hill and 692 Amaretto four doors from you — and all three sold above their asking price within a week. The house that reached for the renovated price without being renovated, 552 Steeple Hill, sat 111 days and sold for a quarter below its asking price. You are never obliged to accept an offer, whatever the list price says.

What if only one buyer turns up on the offer date?

Then you do not have to accept the offer. An offer date is a date for reviewing offers, not a commitment to sell. If the response is thin we talk it through and adjust, and you are no worse off than if you had listed higher — you simply have better information, a week in, instead of three months in.

Does the hydro corridor hurt us?

It costs something and we have measured it rather than guessed. The one comparable sale backing a hydro field sold at $428 a square foot while similar updated homes without one reached $456 to $484, and it took the longest to sell of any updated home in the set. That is roughly $28 to $56 a square foot, and it is already inside the valuation. A buyer's agent will raise it; it is better that we raise it first, with a number attached.

Will the 100 amp service and the 2007 furnace scare buyers off?

Not the buyer we are marketing to, and not if we disclose them properly. A contractor prices a panel upgrade and a furnace without blinking. What frightens buyers is discovering things late — which is why we pay for a home inspection before the house goes up and give it to every buyer. It removes the excuse to bid low on uncertainty, and it is included in the fee.

Will I owe tax on the sale?

For a home you have lived in, the principal-residence exemption generally covers the gain. It is the exceptions that cost people money — years the home was rented, a basement suite, land over half a hectare, a period of non-residency. Ask us and we will walk your ownership history year by year. We flag; we do not guess.

Who actually clears the house?

We do. We rent the bin, put it on your driveway and bring a crew in once you have taken out everything you want to keep. Then a professional clean. You do not lift anything and it is not billed to you — it sits inside the fee and is worth $3,000 to $4,000.

How quickly could this happen?

Five to seven days from the bin arriving to the listing going live, then a week on the market to the offer date. If we started this week, you would have offers in hand before the middle of November — ahead of the window where listings start to sit.

Who will I actually be dealing with?

Terrence, throughout. I live a minute away, I will run the listing personally, and you will hear from me at every stage — not only when there is news. The rest of the team is there so nothing ever waits on one person's calendar.

A conversation first, then a week of work.

Nothing here commits you to anything. Read it, disagree with it, and let us talk it through together.

Step one · read it over	Take your time with this, both of you. Mark anything you disagree with — particularly the condition notes and the valuation. If something in here is wrong, I would rather know now.
Step two · we talk it through	Half an hour, at your kitchen table or on the phone. We go through the numbers, the strategy and anything you want a second look at — including whether selling is the right move at all. If the answer is to stay, that is a perfectly good answer.
Step three · you decide what you are keeping	Walk the house and set aside what is coming with you. Everything else we handle.
Step four · the week	Bin and crew, professional clean, inspection, photography, video and drone, floor plans. Live on MLS® in five to seven days.
Step five · the offer date	Open houses both weekend days, offers reviewed on a published date, and you choose — or you do not. Either way you will hear from me throughout, not just when there is news.

From the day you say go, roughly two weeks to offers in hand.

WHEN YOU'RE READY

Read it over, then let's talk it through.

There is no decision to make today, and take as long as you need with it. When you are ready, I am a minute away. If you believe a sale is in your best interest we are glad to explore it together — and if the answer is to hold, that is a perfectly good answer too.
