Mahfuz, Asma and Irteza — thank you for the opportunity to put this together. Everything in it comes from the records and from one MLS® pull run this week: every condominium townhouse sold within the search radius since June, every one for sale now, and the city and district figures behind them. We have not walked through yet, so the number here is an estimate from the records and from the photographs of the home as it was listed in 2019 — which, we understand, is how it still stands; the walkthrough turns it into a pricing strategy. Two things shape the document. In this part of Scarborough, condominium townhouses are bought on two numbers together, the price and the monthly fee, and the home that sells is the one that reads as the best value on both. And you are selling to move up, which changes what this autumn's softer market means: the same softness that takes something off this sale takes more off the home you are moving to. Section 09 does that arithmetic. Our reading of the evidence is stated once, at the end, and labelled as ours.

SECTION 01 · THE PROPERTY

A three-bedroom multi-level townhouse in the Cliffcrest enclave at Kingston and McCowan, with hardwood, stone and a garden walk-out — kept as it was finished.

Townhouse 43 is a 1,292 sq ft multi-level unit in York Condominium Corporation 392, a 1977 complex of brick townhouses set back from Kingston Road east of McCowan. Three bedrooms, a four-piece and two two-piece baths, a built-in garage with a second space on the drive, ensuite laundry, and a finished lower level that walks out to a fenced west-facing garden. The home was renovated before the current owners bought it in 2019 — Canadian maple hardwood and Carrara stone floors, an updated kitchen with under-cabinet lighting, two Fujitsu ductless heat pumps — and has been kept in that condition since. The monthly fee is $600 and includes water, building insurance, common elements and parking. The owners are selling to move up to a larger home.

What stands out

- Three baths — the Scarborough Village twin had two
- Hardwood and stone throughout, and a renovated kitchen — the twin had laminate and its original kitchen
- Garage plus drive, garden walk-out, west exposure — the three things the stacked and three-storey towns in the radius do not have
- $600 fee against $470–$635 across the pocket: in the range, and the figure every buyer will compare

SECTION 02 · THE MARKET TODAY

Toronto condominium townhouses are selling a third less often than a year ago at prices 6% lower — and on October 28 the Bank of Canada raised rates for the first time since 2023.

City of Toronto: 97 at $749,653 / $685,000 against 139 at $786,671 / $730,000. Toronto E08 reported two sales in September 2026 and six a year ago — too few to read.

CONDOMINIUM TOWNHOUSE SALES IN SOUTH SCARBOROUGH SINCE JUNE, SORTED BY MONTHLY FEE — SALE PRICE, $ THOUSANDS

Sale price ($000s) · Cliffcrest, Scarborough Village, Eglinton East and Birchcliffe-Cliffside · June – September 2026

SYNERGY's extract from MLS®, June 1 – September 30, 2026. Nine condominium townhouse sales between 1,100 and 1,500 sq ft in the four communities; stacked units and the two sales over $1.2M excluded. The three complexes with fees above $730 a month sold at $440,000–$460,000; the five with fees under $650 sold at $550,000–$663,000.

Four things to hold at once. Condominium townhouses across Toronto are selling far less often than a year ago — a third fewer in September — at a median 6% lower, and the autumn is weaker than the spring: the median was $733,000 in May. On October 28 the Bank of Canada raised its policy rate to 2.5%, the first increase since 2023, and said more may follow; buyers who were waiting for cheaper money now have a reason to keep waiting, and the ones still shopping pay close to the asking price only when the asking price is right. In this pocket the monthly fee is read as hard as the price — the chart above puts nine sales in a line, and the fee predicts the sale price almost as well as the size does. And the two sales we have to work from closed in June and August, when the market was stronger than it is now; the number in Section 06 allows for that.

Board statistics stop at the district line and E08 reported two condominium townhouse sales last month, so we pull our own MLS® data on the 1st of each month — every sale in the five regions — before the board publishes. During your listing that means we see a shift in this pocket and respond to it while other agents are waiting for the report.

SECTION 03 · COMPARABLE SALES

Two condominium townhouses have sold within the search radius since June: one in your complex, renovated; one a kilometre east, the same size and form.

The MLS® search covered condominium townhouses within the radius on the map in Section 04, sold since June 1. It returned two — which is the first finding: buyers for this form in this pocket are few, and both sales took three months and several price cuts to find one. All three — yours and the two sales — have a built-in garage and a second space on the drive. Both sales are shown in full; the table is sortable and the link opens the listings.

SECTION 04 · WHAT THE POCKET DID

The search area, the two sales, and what else is on offer.

The radius runs from the Eglinton GO station to the Bluffs and from Brimley to Markham Road. Inside it, two condominium townhouses have sold since June and four are for sale — three of them in one complex at 21 Rockwood Drive, 3-storey units of 1,067 sq ft at a $470 fee, asking $599,900 to $679,000, and the fourth in your own complex. Across the wider south-Scarborough market the pattern from Section 02 holds: the complexes with fees under $650 traded at $550,000–$663,000 this summer, and the ones above $730 at $440,000–$460,000.

SECTION 05 · WHAT EACH SALE TELLS US

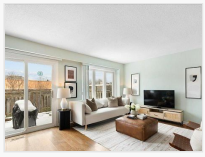

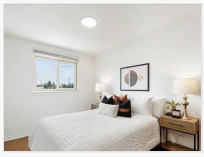

Neither sale is the same home — one is the same plan in a lesser complex, one is a bigger, newer renovation in yours. Read together, they bracket TH 43.

3430 Kingston Rd #4 · Scarborough Village

$550,000

SOLD JUNE 18 · 92% OF FINAL LIST · 87 DAYS · WEIGHTED 60%

The closest comparable, and the one we lean on most. The same multi-level plan at the same size — 1,283 sq ft, three bedrooms, garage and drive — so the adjustments are few and easy to defend. What TH 43 has over it: a third bathroom (#4 had two), maple and Carrara floors and a renovated kitchen against hardwood-and-laminate and an original solid-wood kitchen, a better-regarded complex, and a fee $35 a month lower. What it has against it: it sold in June, before the autumn softening and the rate increase. Adjusted for all of it, #4 points to $565,000–$580,000 for TH 43 today.

3100 Kingston Rd #14 · your complex

$645,000

SOLD AUGUST 6 · 96% OF FINAL LIST · 110 DAYS ACROSS FOUR LISTINGS · WEIGHTED 40%

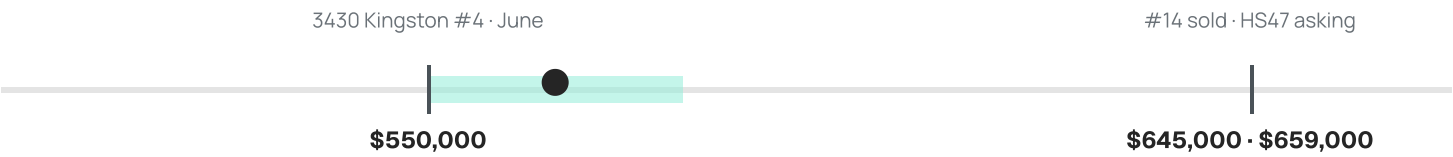

The most relevant location — your own complex — and the more recent sale, but the bigger adjustments. A 1,464 sq ft three-storey end unit, four bedrooms and four baths, with "over $200,000" of work finished in 2025, a fireplace and a $541 fee. It opened at $831,000 in April and took four listings to sell at $645,000. Take off the 172 square feet, the fourth bedroom and bath, the ten-year-newer renovation, the end unit and the higher fee, and #14 points to $540,000–$560,000 for TH 43 today. It also sets the ceiling: the most renovated home in the complex could not clear $650,000 this year.

HOW WE WEIGHTED THEM

Recency: #14 is three months old, #4 four and a half — both predate the October rate increase, so both are adjusted for time. Relevance: #14 is in your complex; #4 is a kilometre east in a weaker one. Comparability: #4 is the same plan and size with three adjustments; #14 needs five, and the largest of them — the renovation — is the hardest to price. Comparability counts most, so #4 carries 60% and #14 40%: $560,000–$570,000, before the walkthrough.

SECTION 06 · WHERE THE EVIDENCE LANDS

Estimated market value.

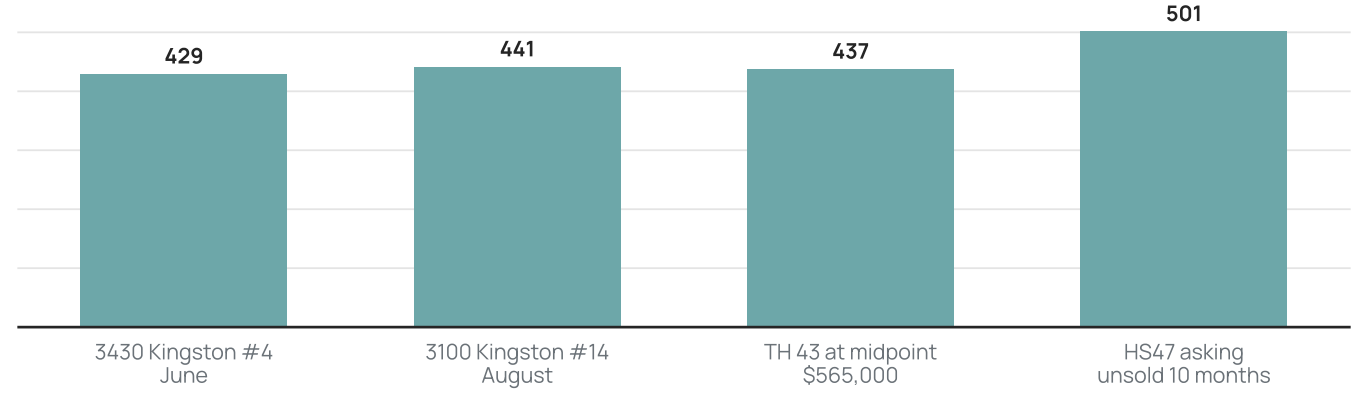

The shaded band is the estimated value range today; the dot is the midpoint. The markers are the two comparable sales and the asking price of the unit in your complex that has not sold in ten months. Built from the records before a walkthrough — see the note below.

Consideration	Effect on value
3430 Kingston #4 — same plan and size; Scarborough Village, $635 fee, 3 bed / 2 bath; sold June 18	$550,000

A third bathroom — #4 had two	+$10,000 to +$12,000

Maple and Carrara floors and a renovated kitchen, against hardwood-and-laminate and the original kitchen	+$10,000 to +$15,000
Indicated by #4	$565,000 – $580,000
3100 Kingston #14 — your complex; 1,464 sq ft, 4 bed / 4 bath, end unit, renovated 2025; sold August 6	$645,000
172 sq ft, a bedroom and a bath fewer	−$40,000 to −$45,000
A pre-2019 renovation against a 2025 one; no end unit or fireplace	−$30,000 to −$40,000
A fee $59 a month higher; August to today	−$15,000 to −$20,000
Indicated by #14	$540,000 – $560,000
Weighted for comparability: #4 at 60% (same plan and size, three adjustments), #14 at 40% (same complex, five adjustments)	$560,000 – $570,000
Ceiling: HS47 in your complex — 1,314 sq ft, move-in ready — unsold at $705,000 since June and at $659,000 since October 6	below $659,000

Adjustments are directional. Time adjustments reflect the City of Toronto condominium-townhouse median and sales since each comparable closed, and the October 28 rate increase. Figures are estimates for discussion, not an appraisal.

PRICE PER SQ FT — THE TWO SALES, TH 43 AT $565,000, AND THE UNSOLD UNIT IN THE COMPLEX AT ITS ASKING PRICE

3430 Kingston #4 (June) and 3100 Kingston #14 (August) at their sale prices; TH 43 at the $565,000 midpoint; HS47 at $659,000 asking. The larger #14 carries a higher rate on its 2025 renovation; HS47's $501 is the number buyers have declined for ten months.

$550,000 – $580,000

estimated market value · midpoint $565,000

$579,900

recommended list price · we plan around a sale of $560,000 and work for more; the alternative is set out in Section 08

The two sales bracket the home, and each is weighed for how recent it is, how relevant its location is, and how comparable the home is. The Scarborough Village twin is the strongest guide: the same plan and size, three clean adjustments — the third bathroom, the finishes and the better complex all in TH 43's favour, the four and a half months since it sold against it — and it indicates $565,000–$580,000. The renovated end unit in your own complex is the more recent sale and the better location, but a bigger, newer home; after five adjustments it indicates $540,000–$560,000. Weighted 60/40 toward the closer match, the evidence lands at $560,000–$570,000 — a midpoint of $565,000, or $437 per square foot, above the twin's $429 for the third bath and the finishes and well under the $501 HS47 has been asking for ten months without a buyer.

We would rather you plan around $560,000 and be pleased than plan around $580,000 and be disappointed: the market has fewer buyers than it did in the summer, and both sales here took three months. But the range is $550,000–$580,000 because this home has things the comparables did not, and the work is to make every buyer see them. The walkthrough — the kitchen and baths as they stand today, the floors, the lower level and the walk-out, the heat pumps — turns this into a pricing strategy.

SECTION 07 · WHO YOU WOULD BE COMPETING WITH

Four condominium townhouses are for sale in the radius. None has sold in between 40 and 293 days, and the one in your complex has been asking more than $659,000 since January.

A buyer looking at TH 43 will have these four open in other tabs. Three are 1,067 sq ft three-storey units at 21 Rockwood Drive with a $470 fee, asking $599,900 to $679,000 — none has moved, including the tenanted one priced at $599,900 since October 8. The fourth is HS47 in your own complex: 1,314 sq ft, three bedrooms, two baths, a wood fireplace and a finished walk-out, listed in January at $741,000 after a 2025 attempt at $778,000, reduced to $705,000 in June and to $659,000 in October. Ten months without a buyer in the same complex is the single most useful fact in this document: it marks where the market stops.

The unit yours will be shown against, in the same enclave. Larger by 22 square feet, with a fireplace and a cathedral-ceiling living room, and move-in ready — but one bathroom fewer than yours. It asked $778,000 in April 2025, $741,000 in August and again in January, $705,000 from June, and $659,000 since October 6 — and has not sold. Priced $79,000 under it, TH 43 becomes the value in the complex; priced near it, it joins it.

21 Rockwood Drive #4 $599,900

40 DAYS · 1,067 SQ FT (MPAC) · 3 BED, 2 BATH · 3-STOREY · FEE $470 · TENANTED, SOLD AS-IS · FROM $639,900

The listing that sets the entry price for the pocket. Smaller than TH 43 by 225 square feet, tenanted with 24 hours' notice to show, offered as-is, and still waiting after a cut to $599,900. At $579,900 a buyer gets your home — hardwood and stone, three baths, a garden, vacant possession — for $20,000 less than this one.

21 Rockwood Drive #8 $669,999

52 DAYS ACROSS TWO LISTINGS · 1,067 SQ FT · 3 BED, 2 BATH · UPDATED · FEE $470 · FROM $710,000 · SOLD JANUARY 2021 AT $586,888

Updated and well presented, and asking $84,000 more than it fetched in January 2021. It was listed at $710,000 in August, terminated, and relisted at $669,999 in October. Its history is the pocket's history: the price a buyer paid in 2021 is close to what the market supports now.

21 Rockwood Drive #22

$679,000

86 DAYS · 1,067 SQ FT · 3 BED, 2 BATH · FURNISHED · FEE $470 · SELF-MANAGED CORPORATION

The highest ask in the pocket for the smallest unit, three months without a buyer. It will be in every buyer's comparison set, and it makes TH 43 at $579,900 look like the obvious choice.

SECTION 08 · TWO WAYS TO PRICE IT

Two ways to price it — both planned around a sale of $560,000 or better, and neither final until we have walked through.

Both columns assume a launch within a week of the walkthrough, with new photography, floor plans and the ad campaign ready on day one. The range in Section 06 is an educated estimate from the records; the strategy is finalized once we have seen the home.

The pocket's own history decides the approach. Both sales this year opened well above where they closed and gave back 8–15% of the original ask over three months; all four actives are doing the same thing now. Condominium buyers here compare the fee and the price side by side, and the listing that reads as the best value on both is the one that gets the showing.

Two ways to price it

	List at $579,900 — the top of the range, room to negotiate	List at $569,900 — at the market, fewer steps
List price	$579,900, reviewed on day 21 and moving to $569,900 if there is no offer	$569,900 from day one, held for 30 days
Where it sits	$79,000 under HS47 in your complex and $20,000 under the tenanted as-is unit at Rockwood — the value listing in the pocket from day one	$30,000 or more under every active in the radius — the lowest ask for the most home
What to expect	Priced at the evidence rather than above it, a sale at 96–98% of list: $557,000–$568,000	At the same ratios, $547,000–$558,000 — the lower list buys a higher sale only if two buyers appear, and nothing in this pocket has drawn competing offers this year
Likely timing	Showings from the first weekend; an offer inside 30–45 days	A faster first offer, with less room to give
What favours this	Room to negotiate without going under $560,000; the comparison with HS47 and Rockwood works in your favour every day	A quick, clean sale when the next home is already in hand and the closing date matters more than the last $10,000

Figures are estimates for discussion. The pricing strategy is finalized at the walkthrough, not before.

SECTION 09 · MOVING UP IN THIS MARKET

A softer market is the right market to move up in — the same percentage comes off a bigger number on the home you are buying.

You are selling to buy something larger, so the question is not only what this home is worth but how far it is from the next one. When prices fall, that distance shrinks: 6% off a $600,000 townhouse is $35,000, and 11% off a $1,065,000 detached is $120,000. That is what the last year did. The median Toronto East detached is $120,000 cheaper than in September 2025; a home like yours is roughly $35,000 cheaper; the gap between the two is $85,000 shorter than it was. The same softness that takes something off this sale takes more off the one you are moving to.

The arithmetic cuts the other way for anyone who sells and then waits. If the market recovers while you are out of it, the home you want gains more dollars than the one you sold would have, and the gap re-opens. The one way to lose in this market is to sell and not buy. Selling and buying in the same market locks the gap in at its narrowest in years — and it is a market where the sellers of the home you want are the ones making concessions on price, closing dates and conditions.

the closing we would set on your sale — long enough to buy into, so you are never carrying two homes

	Sell and buy now	Sell now, buy later	Wait, then do both
If prices recover 5%	Gap locked at about $380,000 — the recovery adds to the home you own	The next home costs about $47,000 more while your proceeds sit still — the one way to lose	Gap widens by about $19,000
If prices fall 5% more	Gap locked at about $380,000	About $47,000 more buying power — a bet on direction that paid off	Gap narrows by about $19,000
What you control	The price, the closing, the next home — everything	Only the sale; the purchase becomes a bet on timing	Nothing — and the Bank of Canada has said more increases may follow

IN SHORT

Selling into a softer market costs something on this home and saves more on the next one. The only way to lose is to sell and not buy. Sell first, with a closing long enough to buy into, and buy in the same market — the one where the sellers of the home you want are making the concessions. Illustration at $565,000 sold and $945,000 bought; a 5% move applied to both prices moves the gap by about $19,000.

CHOOSE YOUR LEVEL OF SERVICE

Two packages, the same duty of care in both — and the one we recommend for a home that has to win a comparison.

Both packages include the full professional obligations we owe you: presenting all offers, acting in your interest, and complete disclosure. What differs is how much of the preparation and marketing we take on.

For TH 43 we recommend Signature. Every buyer who sees your listing will see HS47 and the three Rockwood units beside it, and the one that shows best wins the showing. Professional photography and video, floor plans, light staging, touch-ups and the paid campaign are what put a 2019 renovation in front of buyers as the best value in the pocket.

WHAT WE DO FOR YOUR PROPERTY

The campaign makes one argument, everywhere: the best value in the pocket on both numbers.

TH 43 has what the units it competes with do not — hardwood and stone, a third bath, a garden walk-out, a garage and a drive — at a lower price than the one in its own complex. The listing says that in the first line, the photographs prove it, and the ads put it in front of the first-time buyers and young families who are shopping condominium townhouses between $550,000 and $700,000 in south Scarborough right now.

PRODUCTION

Professional photography — new photographs — the 2019 set is seven years old — staged and lit to show the floors and the west light

Videography and aerial drone — the enclave and its setting back from Kingston Road; a walkthrough that sells the multi-level layout

Floor plans — every level measured and drafted — the plan is the thing a multi-level buyer cannot picture from photographs

The comparison sheet — TH 43 beside HS47 and the Rockwood units — size, baths, fee, price — in every buyer's hand

EXPOSURE

MLS® and full syndication — REALTOR.ca and every major portal, day one

Paid digital advertising, 24/7 — across our six pages for the life of the listing, aimed at first-time buyers and families in Scarborough and the east end

Collaborator posts — the tour reel on all six team pages at once, then to the large pages we work with

Agent network — a personal call to every agent who has sold a condominium townhouse in E08 this year

Database — featured to 30,000 contacts, including the first-time buyers moving up from condominium apartments

ON THE GROUND

Painting and touch-ups — where the walkthrough says they will return more than they cost

Staging — light staging of the main level and primary bedroom around your furniture

In-house legal review — the status certificate on the conditional offer, the conditions and the closing — checked before you sign

Showing protocol — agent-accompanied on your schedule; feedback to you within a day of every visit

PROPERTY TOURS — HOW WE SHOW A HOME

Two of our recent listing tours, cut for Instagram, Facebook and YouTube. Each one is produced by the team before the home goes live, so the first weekend's buyers have already seen inside.

QUESTIONS SELLERS ASK

The things most people want to ask, answered before you have to.

Why not list higher and come down if we have to?

Because this pocket has already run that experiment four times this year. #14 in your complex opened at $831,000 and sold at $645,000 after four months; 3430 Kingston opened at $699,000 and sold at $550,000; HS47 has been coming down from $778,000 since April 2025 and is still for sale. Buyers here compare the fee and the price side by side and wait. $579,900 is the top of the range already; listing above it buys weeks, not dollars.

Should we sell first or buy first?

Sell first. In a market with more listings than buyers, the sale is the uncertain side and the purchase is the easier one: sellers of the home you want are negotiating on price, closing dates and conditions. We sell with a closing long enough to buy into — 60 to 90 days — and the search starts the week the listing goes live so the two line up. Buying first and carrying two homes into this market is the one version of the plan we would not recommend.

What does the rate increase mean for us?

On the sale: fewer buyers, so the price has to be right on day one. On the purchase: a quarter point adds roughly $70 a month per $500,000 borrowed — real, but small next to the $120,000 the median Toronto East detached is cheaper than a year ago. Refresh the mortgage pre-approval before we list; the rate it was based on has moved, and the Bank has said more may follow.

We paid $520,000 in 2019. Where does that leave us?

A sale around $565,000 is about 9% more than you paid, seven years on. Prices for this form rose sharply through 2021–22 and have come most of the way back since; the home has held its value through that round trip. The arithmetic in Section 09 is where this market works for you — on the home you buy next.

Does the $600 fee hurt us?

It is inside the pocket's range — $470 at Rockwood, $541 and $554 for the other two units in your complex, $635 at 3430 Kingston — and it includes water, insurance and parking. It is a number every buyer will check, so the listing states it plainly and sets it beside what it covers. Worth confirming from the latest statement before we publish it.

Should we renovate the kitchen or baths before selling?

No. The most renovated unit in the complex — $200,000 of work — sold for $645,000 in August. A renovation would not return its cost, and it would cost you the weeks. Paint, touch-ups and staging where the walkthrough says they return more than they cost is the line.

What is a status certificate and when does it get ordered?

A package from the corporation — its financials, reserve fund, insurance, rules and any legal matters — that a buyer's lawyer reviews before an offer firms up. We order it when a conditional offer is accepted, which keeps the cost off your side until there is a buyer, and our in-house review reads it before the buyer's lawyer does. There are no known issues with YCC 392.

Is there tax on the sale?

A home you have lived in as your principal residence is generally exempt from tax on the gain. The exception worth a question is any period it was rented out. Terrence is a CPA and will make sure the right question is asked before the listing goes live.

How long will it take?

The pocket's two sales took 87 and 110 days — most of it spent coming down from an ambitious opening price. Priced at the evidence, with new photography and the comparison with HS47 and Rockwood working for you, 30 to 60 days to an offer is the reasonable expectation in this autumn's market, with a 60–90 day close after that to buy into.

Who will we actually be dealing with?

Heaven and Terrence, on every call, showing and offer — and on the purchase. The team is behind the file — a Broker for the contract, a law-trained partner for the status certificate and the agreement — but the two people accountable to you are the two whose names are on this document.

What the next six weeks would look like.

Week 1	Walkthrough. Pricing strategy finalized against this analysis — the number here is from the records and the 2019 photographs, and the home as it stands decides where in the range it lands. Listing agreement signed. Budget and criteria for the next home set from the same number; mortgage pre-approval refreshed.
Week 1 – 2	Marketing strategy finalized from the walkthrough — what the home needs, if anything, is decided then. Photography, video, drone and floor plans booked; the fee and inclusions confirmed from the latest statement.
Days 2 – 5	Production: photography, video walkthrough, aerial, floor plans, the comparison sheet. Ad campaign designed. Collaborator post and agent calls prepared.
Day 6	Live on MLS® and REALTOR.ca. Campaign on. The database and the agent network told the same morning. Showings on your schedule from the first weekend. The search for the next home starts the same week.
Days 7 – 21	Showings with feedback to you within a day of each. First review on day 7; a day-21 decision point on the step to $569,900. Offers negotiated with a 60–90 day closing to buy into.
Every month	Our own MLS® pull on the 1st, before the board publishes — so a shift in the pocket, or in the detached market you are buying into, reaches you before it reaches the market.

NEXT STEPS

Read it over, then let's walk through together.

The next step is a walkthrough: an hour in the home, every level, so the estimate here becomes a pricing strategy we all stand behind. Then the plan for the move — sell first, with a closing long enough to buy into, and the search for the next home running alongside. If the walkthrough or the numbers say waiting would serve you better, we will say so.
